FAIR HOUSING FORCES MOBILIZE

Weekend Pickets Are Due at Serramonte

By DENIS WADE

North County civil rights forces are intending a drive against alleged segregation in the multi-million dollar Serramonte development in Daly City.

A recently organized Ad Hoc Committee for Fair Housing in Serramonte has announced a meeting tomorrow night, to plan two days of picketing at the development this weekend.

The committee anticipates support from more than half a dozen civil rights groups in its "direct action protest," among them the Council for Civic Unity, the Fair Housing Council of San Mateo County, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Community Inter-action Through You (CITY) of Daly City, and A Committee to Integrate Our Neighborhoods (ACTION) of South San Francisco.

The Daly City Pastors' Association has publicly voiced its support of the committee, in two resolutions passed at last week's meeting.

The first, introduced by the Rev. Herbert Tweedie, pastor of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, declares the association's "moral support for the Ad Hoc Committee."

The second motion, by Association Secretary Clifford Droke of Wesley Methodist Church, calls upon the builders "to meet with the Ad Hoc Committee . . . to discuss the issues and solve the problems involved."

The Rev. Howard Bryant, a Negro and pastor of Daly City's Second Baptist Church, presently lives in San Francisco with his wife and three school-age children.

Claiming he has been unsuccessful in attempts to buy a Serramonte home since the development opened last June, he has filed suit to force the issue.

Albert N. Waters, a South San Fracisco resident and spokesman for ACTION, said that repeated attempts to discuss the situation with officers of Standard Building Company have been unsuccessful.

Waters, who is also chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee, said a request for a meeting this month had been ignored.

A Standard executive, who declined to be quoted by name, professed complete surprise on being told of plans for picketing Serramonte.

"I don't know anything about it," he said, "I can't understand it."

He denied, however, that the developers intend to see that Serramonte's ultimate planned population of 21,000 is limited to Caucasians.

New Freeway Link Finish Is Requested

Officials Warn Of Jams

The State Highway Commission told Daly City and Pacifica leaders Thursday that it will try to advance the timetable for completion of a link between the new Junipero Serra Freeway and the Edgemar Freeway.

At a commission hearing in Sacramento, officials of the two cities warned of a serious bottleneck if the link were not hurried up. The present timetable calls for completion of the road in 1970.

Grading and fill work for the link, to be called the Cabrillo Freeway, has been largely completed. The link would connect the Junipero Serra Freeway near Chinese Cemetery and the Edgemar Freeway north of the Fairmont subdivision in Pacifica.

The Edgemar Freeway, in turn, connects with Pacifica's new north-south freeaway.

Commission members indicated they were aware of the bottleneck that could materialize on present streets between Junipero Serra and Edgemar.

But they added that the question of hurrying up construction on the link depended upon finding funds for the work. Cost (Please See Page 3, Column 4)

Planners Recommend Ordinance

The South San Francisco Planning Commission Monday night drafted a recommendation to the city council to adopt an interim ordinance for the control of the land in the old Tanforan race track area.

Commission Chairman Warren Steinkamp said that the recommendation was made to restrict building on the land and to keep building compatible with future plans which the city of San Bruno has for the area.

Five of the girls will be selected by the panel of judges to compete for the crown of the lovliest lass in the North County city. Final judging is scheduled for May 26 at the South San Francisco Elks' Club.

The entrants attended an all-day charm school at Westmoor on Saturday to prepare them for the rigors of the contest.

D.C. Council Acts on Road Developments

Daly City councilmen Monday night acted on several matters pertaining to streets and highways within the city.

Acting unanimously, the council passed a resolution authorizing execution of an agreement to secure county gasoline tax funds for construction of extensions of Hickey Boulevard between Junipero Serra Boulevard and the Junipero Serra Freeway, and Sullivan Avenue from its present terminus near Mary's Help Hospital to a future projection of Southgate Avenue.

JESD Celebrates Its 100th Birthday

An old bell in a school belfry rang somberly in Daly City yesterday for the first time in two decades.

And although its clang was muffled by the accumulation of rust over the years, the bell brought back memories to those present in 1935 when the school opened its doors for the first time.

The sounding of the bell yesterday at Jefferson School at 14 Alemany Street rang in the beginning of a gala, year-long celebration of the Jefferson Elementary School District's 100th birthday.

Civil defense supplies for less than one-tenth of the population of San Mateo County have been acquired and placed in fallout shelters throughout the county, according to Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, county CD coordinator.

New Mayors Are Chosen In N. County

Councils Play Musical Chairs

By DON MILLER

North County councilmen played their annual game of mayoral musical chairs last week and when the game had ended, one mayor had been chosen to serve again while five others were succeeded by new faces.

Of the six mayors named, two had served in the top spot before.

Appointment of the mayors came at the annual organizational meetings of the city councils. State law requires the meetings to be held on the first Tuesday after election.

North County voters elected councilmen the previous week.

In Daly City, largest of the North County's municipalities, Albert Polonsky, a councilman since January of 1964, was named mayor. He was appointed to the council to succeed the late Joseph Verducci who had resigned to run for supervisor.

Polonsky was elected to a four-year term in April of 1964. He succeeds Francis Pacelli as mayor.

Named vice mayor was Bernard Lycett, who was elected to the council this month in his first try for political office. He had been appointed to the council previously.

In Pacifica, councilmen named Harland Minshew as mayor. Minshew led the balloting in this year's election in being elected to a second term. He succeeds James Fox in the top spot.

Donald McMannis, elected this month after having been appointed to the council, was named vice mayor.

DOLWIG BILL MULLED

Representatives Seek a Second Superior Court

Establishment of a full-time Superior Court in the North County Judicial District came under discussion at a special meeting held Monday afternoon.

Present were Assemblyman Leo Ryan, Daly City Mayor Albert Polonsky, South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli, San Bruno Councilman Maurice Hamilton, John Sherman, president of the North County Bar Association, and Wayne McFadden, representing State Senator Richard Dolwig, who was ill.

McFadden told the group that Senator Dolwig, whose bill creating a third municipal court in the Northern Judicial District is expected to go before the Assembly next week, plans to introduce another bill in 1967 calling for creation of the new Superior Court.

However, Polonsky said he for one feels that establishment of the two new courts should be combined into one bill, to avoid jeopardizing the future Superior Court bench if the Dolwig bill passes, and to eliminate the necessity of going to the legislature twice.

Ryan, who said he had not been told about Dolwig's bill in advance, stated that he had three choices: to support it, to attempt to amend it in the Assembly to include the new Superior Court, or to try to hold it up while more background data is compiled.

Ryan estimated that the Dolwig Bill would reach the Assembly floor for action no earlier than May 9, and said he would introduce an amendment including the higher court if North County officials could provide him with the necessary justification.

Required, he said, would be letters from the Grand Jury, the Judicial Council, County Bar Association, Board of Supervisors and the county judges.

Sherman, who said he has worked for years to obtain a full-time Superior Court in the North County, declared that he had not been consulted during preparation of Dolwig's municipal court bill.

Bertucelli said he first read of it in the papers, as did Polonsky.

The Daly City mayor said an effort will be made in the next week and a half to obtain the documentation necessary to allow Ryan to amend the bill, to provide both new court facilities for the North County.

Candidates List Costs Of $20,000

North County political candidates spent some $20,000 on their campaigns for city council seats in this month's elections, according to statements filed with city clerks.

Several of those who ran have not yet filed the statements, required by law of each candidate within 35 days of the election.

While the $20,000 would average about $500 for each of the 40 candidates in Daly City, San Bruno, South San Francisco, Pacifica, Brisbane and Colma, 13 of the contenders had not filed by Friday.

Ten others had submitted statements indicating they spent (Please See Page 3, Column 6)

Appointments Are Made In San Bruno

Appointments to civic committees and commissions was the big news in San Bruno's City Council Monday night, as councilmen picked the men who will participate with citizens in various functions.

Ex-Mayor Neil Christal was named council representative to the Park and Recreation Commission, replacing Maurice Hamilton, and to the Youth Advisory Committee.

Don Risso was named to the planning commission, replacing the new mayor, Karney Barberian.

George Ingham was named to the personnel board, the Regional Planning Commission, and (Please See Page 3, Column 4)

Candidates To Air Views

A candidates' night will be held at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Speaker will include: Edward Keating and Mark Sullivan, both Democratic candidates for the House seat of Republican J. Arthur Younger, John Dinkelspiel, who will speak in Younger's stead and San Francisco supervisors, Leo McCarthy and George Moscone.

There will be no charge for the event; the public is invited.

Personnel Body Moves Meeting

The South San Francisco Personnel Board, which normally meets the fourth Tuesday of each month, will meet this month on the fourth Thursday instead. The meeting will be tomorrow night.

The change, according to a city spokesman, was made to accommodate a member of the staff who will be unavailable on the regular meeting date.

The personnel board meets at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

Planners To Mull Beach Proposals

Pedro Beach, a popular surfing and bathing area in Pacifica, may be changed from a public beach to commercial-recreation use.

Pacifica Planning Commission members at last night's meeting, considered two requests from beach property owners for a rezoning in the Pedro Beach area. They also discussed a recommendation from the City Council for a change in the general plans for the beach from public to commercial.

Further consideration of these requests and other rezoning applications for Pedro Beach was postponed to a study session next Monday.

In other business, the Commission:

Granted a new entry on Avalon Drive instead of Oceana Boulevard to Howard Cuyler's Used Car Lot in Pacific Manor.

Continued the application of Catherine Koche for a use permit for an out-of-door market on the east side of the Coast Highway at Reina Del Mar.

Applications for a change in working hours for a quarry site on Sharp Park Road adjacent to the Pacifica Subdivision and San Bruno was also continued. The property is being subleased by Mike Cozzolino.

ignore minorities, he stated that a staff of eight salesmen deals with "three to four hundred" prospective buyers each week-end, and suggested that salesmen may naturally tend to favor those prospects who look most affluent.

In the face of what they consider indifference to their claims on the part of Standard officials, organizers of the Ad Hoc Committee are going ahead with plans for tomorrow night's meeting and picketing Saturday and Sunday.

The meeting will include a talk by Eugene R. Wolfe, executive director of the Council for Civic Unity of the San Francisco Bay Area, and a workshop on direct action techniques outlining non-violent picketing procedures.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the Lincoln Park Memorial Clubhouse in Daly City.

Actual details of the planned picketing will be discussed at the meeting, after talks between committee spokesmen and city officials, incuding Chief of Police Roland Petrocchi.

Bryant said he was not prepared to discuss the actual picketing or any other action the committee might decide upon—but he stressed that it would be orderly.

"We're not anticipating any civil disobedience," he added.

mer teachers and trustees of the district.

They heard several speakers laud the record of the Jefferson district and the support of district residents for 100 years.

They also heard proclamations from the office of Mayor Aibert Polonsky, calling upon Daly City residents to join the birthday celebration this year, and from the Board of Trustees, officially proclaiming 1966 as a centennial year.

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas, in delivering the principal speech on the program, noted:

"Perhaps at no period in history is public education charged with the challenge and responsibility of training our children for leadership in a world of almost complexity."

And he added:

"History documents what public education has done in the last 100 years and today, with even greater support of the people, I feel that there is nothing that education cannot do."

Thomas Noonan, chairman of the board of trustees, who read the district's centennial proclamation, remarked that "the people of this area always have supported their public schools."

He called upon the community to join the district in "a time of fun and celebration" to observe its 100th birthday.

Other speakers included Vice Mayor Bernard Lycett, who delivered Mayor Polonsky's proclamation, County Superintendent of Schools James Tormey and Roger Barthuli, assistant superintendent of the Jefferson District.

Marjorie Tobias, principal of Vista Mar School, introduced a number of persons formerly associated with the district, including William Sweeney, a trustee of the district when Jefferson School opened in 1935; former Supt. H. Z. Weibel, and Marie Traynor, first principal of Jefferson.

At the conclusion of the introductions, Miss Traynor and trustee George Perry went inside the school and together tugged at a rope that rang the school bell.

Approved a tentative map for part of the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes industrial complex.

Scholarship Fund Set Up

A memorial scholarship fund to honor the late John Mongan, principal of Jefferson High School for 11 years, has been established by the Jefferson Union High School District.

Individuals or organizations wishing to contribute to the fund may make checks payable to the John Mongan Scholarship Fund and send them to the district's offices at 375 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City.

Mongan died April 12. He had been associated with the district since 1937.

will be matched by the city. The developer of the area will also share the cost of the new roads.

In a second action, the council authorized execution of an agreement with the state for development of traffic channelization and signals at the intersection of Hickey and Skyline Boulevards.

The improved intersection, according to City Engineer Arthur Reschke, would be similar to those at Skyline and Westridge and Westmoor Avenues.

The work, for which Daly City and Pacifica would each pay 7,500, is part of a larger plan, Reschke said, which includes improvement of Skyline from the Edgemar Freeway to San Bruno.

Another highway which came under council scrutiny is the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway, which will one day connect Daly City's Market Street with Bayshore Boulevard in Brisbane, via San Bruno Mountain.

The commission told the two-city delegation that its staff would attempt to find the necessary funds at a budget review session next month.

Mayor Albert Polonsky, heading a four-man Daly City contingent, compared the present traffic setup to "putting two milk bottles together."

He said opening of the Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City last week had created a "funneling" affect.

That is, traffic from one freeway must funnel through Daly City streets to reach the other freeway.

Former mayor Maurice Hamilton was named vice mayor.

South San Francisco councilmen apparently liked the job Frank Bertucelli was doing so well that they gave him a green light for a second term as mayor.

He has been o councilman since January of 1963 when he was appointed to succeed Leo Ryan after Ryan took his seat in the State Assembly.

Named vice mayor was former Mayor Patric Ahern, who led the balloting in being re-elected to the council.

Colma councilmen chose Mrs. Rena Vallerga as mayor. She had served in a similar capacity from 1960 to 1962 and has been on the council for eight years. She was re-elected this month.

Named vice mayor was Wallace Honeywell who had served as mayor in 1962-63.

less than $200 on their campaigns.

Of the remaining 17 who detailed their contributions and expenditures, seven spent more than one thousand dollars.

Roy Ghilardi, assistant South San Francisco building inspector, topped all other candidates with an expenditure of $2,957.80, all but $410 of it his own cash.

Despite his efforts, Ghilardi placed fourth in the race for two seats, just 34 votes behind second-place Andrew Rocca, an incumbent, and five votes behind Planning Commission Chairman Warren Steinkamp, who also lost.

Rocca and his fellow incumbent Patrick Ahern said they had spent $1,273.93 and $1,351.86 respectively. Each listed $985 in outside contributions.

Steinkamp said he spent $797.40, $552.40 of it from his own pocket.

In Daly City, incumbents Micheal DeBernardi and Edward Dennis listed a total of $2,250, all in contributions. Bernard Lycett, seeking his first full council term, showed donations of $2,375.

New Group for Culture Is Formed in Pacifica

A new organization to promote community cultural and educational programs was officially launched in Pacifica last week.

The organization started informally several months ago when a group of interested residents of Pacifica met with Dr. William Miller, co-ordinator of Community Education for College of San Mateo.

Now called the Community Cultural Co-ordinating Commtitee, the group hopes to have representation from the entire Pacifica community, according to chairman Enid Emde.

At a meeting in the Community Room of the Sharp Park Library lats week, members approved a merger with the Library and the Community Room Committee.

The new committee will be under the sponsorship of the Park, Beach and Recreation Department. It will ask for City Council sanction at a council meeting April 27.

Mrs. Emde noted that one of the functions of the new group will be the promotion of suitable activities for the new library community room.

At a meeting with Dr. Miller at CSM, also scheduled April 27, representatives from the committee will formulate plans to bring a pilot adult education program from the college to Pacifica.

Murphy Asks Withdrawal Of Deposits

Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy today urged depositors with postal savings certificates to withdraw their accounts from Post Offices as soon as possible or as soon as the anniversary dates on their certificates are reached.

The Postal Savings System was abolished March 27 with the signing of Public Law 89-377 by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Murphy pointed out that as of tomorrow, no deposits can be accepted and no new accounts can be opened. He said that interest will end on the anniversary date of each certificate.

He added that for convenience, all certificates held by a depositor may be cashed at the same time and interest will be paid for each full month they have been outstanding beyond three months from the interest date.

The Postal Savings System was established January 1, 1911, to get hoarded money into circulation and to attract savings of a large number of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at Post Offices in their native countries.

The system also served as a safe depository for people who had lost confidence in private banks. Today, however, with the growth of banking facilities paying much higher interest rates than the two per cent interest per annum paid on Postal Savings, the system has outlived its usefulness for the American people, postal officials say.

Murphy noted that as of June 30, 1965, there were 997,029 depositors holding certificates in 3,130 post offices throughout the nation. The number of depositors has been declining, he said, at a rate of about 6,500 per month.

He said that unpaid deposits remaining in the Post Office beyond June 30, 1967, would be transferred to the Treasury Department and held in a trust fund that would be available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims were received.

PRODUCT X has made the scene! Stimax, the campus company, recently wrapped up its intensive market analysis study to determine the potential of several possible product X's from which X was decided. Only Stimax knows what it is, but mass production starts this week and product X will soon be sold to the public.

A JOINT Terra Nova-Oceana car wash is planned by both schools' A.F.S. clubs sometime in May. The proceeds will help bring a foreign exchange student to Terra Nova next year.

Terra Nova's A.F.S. club also has been active socially of late since it joined Language Club activities. Both clubs recently spent a day at Golden Gate Park—bicycling, picnicking and sightseeing, and later further enjoyed themselves at Playland's Fun House. Oceana's French A.F.S. student, Anne-Marie Galopin, was a guest.

The two clubs also went roller skating.

OTHER busy people at TN are the seniors working on "You Can't Take It With You," this year's senior play. The comedy is being directed by TN drama coach David Campbell, and will be presented on the weekends of May 13 and 14 and 20 and 21.

Pilfered Pickets Perturb Police

Daly City police are keeping an eye on the area around the Broadmoor Nursery School, at 377 Eighty-seventh Avenue.

School authorities reported last week that pickets had been disappearing from their fence, a few at a time, for several nights.

It may be that someone in the neighborhood was building his own picket fence—but the likely explanation is children playing, according to one officer, who theorized that youngsters had been pulling off a few pickets each night to play with, then throwing them away.

"The pickets," he pointed out, "make neat swords."

DALY CITY THEFT

Clyde O. Eddy, 235 Miriam Street, Daly City, told police last week that someone entered his apartment through the unlocked front door, stealing a television set, typewriter and $200 cashier's check.

YES, YES, we know we're more than a month tardy with our annual kite column.

Not that we've ignored our public trust. It's just that we became discouraged—during our yearly trek through variety stores assaying new kite horizons—when we discovered that the biggest seller was Batman Kites.

While we've often decried the lack of imagination of today's youth, even THEY must know that Batman can't fly and that a realistic approach must begin somewhere—even in fantasy.

That one factor was what, to us, always separated the men from the boys, and what caused us to choose Superman as Our Hero. This was for two reasons: (1) Any fool knows bats can fly, so Batman's creator, Bob Kane, was to us automatically a big know-nothing. (2) Any hero worth his salt should fly, or else how can he rescue weeping maidens when they slip off high buildings?

There were two sub-factors: (1) Superman had the built-in glamour to make people wonder whether he was a bird or a plane rather than a newspaperman from another planet. With Bruce Wayne, the Batman, could they have pointed to him and said anything else but, "Is it a bird, is it a plane . . . no, it's a bat that can't fly?" (2) Superman, even though it was in his mutated state as Clark Kent, did like girls.

Why, with these new plastic kites, even Plastic Man would have been more appropriate than Batman.

THUS DISCOURAGED, and equally encouraged by a flood of mail to reprint our original annual kite column (okay, so a memo from our editor to get a column in this week fast isn't a flood—you've got to admit it carries weight), we have thus consented to retreat to nostalgia and to repeat our first annual kite column:

Gee, here Kite season's just about ended and we've yet to write a thing about it.

But that's how it is with kite and marble and yo-yo and top seasons—they erupt without notice and disappear without reason.

Kids seem to have a built-in timing and learning system that tells them when to start and stop these seasons and teaches them the unwritten rules and skills of the games, which they somehow manage to acquire without the overt help of parents or older brothers and sisters.

Some of our fondest memories are connected with kites—the feeling of adventure and creativity in making your own out of water and mother's flour and dad's front page and the only yardstick in the house.

And the fun of hearing dad's new repertoire of curse words, and the shock of hearing mom curse at all, and the thrill of beating it out the back door and using the neighbor's prize flower bed as a runway, and having mom's best twine snap at 500 feet and seeing the kite crash into a telephone wire. And then starting again, undaunted, like the Wright Brothers.

WE NOW HAVE a new generation of kite-flyers. They're smaller kids than yesteryear. They don't know they have to be 10 to be flight pioneers. They're kids who use store-bought kites and, heaven forbid, some store-boughts made out of indestructable plastic.

Half the fun of kite-flying is watching them crash and break up like Richard Arlen's World War I jobs.

Kites have been big in this area since a seeming change in weather filtered in less fog and builders thought of off-street power-line parking.

Used to be if kids did manage to see their kites through the mist, they saw them only hung up on telephone poles.

This season's kite-world sensation, as previously hinted, is the plastic kite, which gets up faster and stays up easier and higher than the conventional paper kite.

Their ease of operation may explain the sudden rash of little kid pilots—which may account for the short season this year.

One advantage of the plastic kite (if you can call it an advantage) is that these jobs don't break up.

Well, a couple of weeks ago the wind was really whipping around here for a few days and the little kids wouldn't let go of their new unyielding plastic kites, and, well . . . more tiny tots got flying lessons. . . .

LOCAL LINES: Alan Gallagher, San Francisco born-and-raised, Daly City-based Giant draft hopeful, has moved up the ladder to Fresno where it's hoped he'll learn enough to someday cavort at third base for the Big Team . . . and Pacifican (ex-Westmoor Ram) Rich Morales impressed enough at shortstop during this spring's White Sox camp to be assigned to the Sox' Double A club at Evansville.

Three former Terra Nova athletes made it big in the academic world last week. Karl Harris, class of '63 and a fine long distance runner, made College of Pacific's Dean's list, as did former footballer and wrestler Storm Goranson ('62) at San Francisco State. Ken Kirkland ('62), another grider and matman, nabbed a $1,000 California State scholarship to use for his Stanford studies.

Two Jefferson Union High School district teachers who never have discipline problems, we'll bet, are Oceana's Neil Laughlin and Bob Nichols. In the recent Northern California-Nevada Judo Championships at Jefferson High, Laughlin won in competition with over 100 contestants in several weight divisions. Nichols took second place in the heavyweight division.

Manny Romero, Terra Nova Blvd. postal worker, is a one-time, All-City first baseman from Mission High. He had one of the best "textbook" swings we ever saw in a high school player.

A recent story out of South San Francisco quoted the reason for Greg Jones being dropped from the Warriors' baseball team as, "pressures from football recruiters . . ." which, the report implied, so distracted Jones he couldn't concentrate on his baseball responsibilities.

If this is true, then the posture of football college recruiters in relation to their contract with a boy before he's graduated had better be investigated—not so much because Jones couldn't cut it in baseball, but because of what such pressure could do to the academic standards of a boy like Jones, who is a top student.

Jones, incidentally, was recently named one of the top 10 prep football players in the country in a poll of coaches and sportswriters run by Coach and Athlete Magazine and a soft drink company. This means that he was in the upper 1-100 of one per cent of his group.

TOP CLUBS TO DUEL

First-Place Colts to Battle Jefferson for League Lead

El Camino High School's North Peninsula League-leading baseball team will get one of its most rugged tests of the current campaign Friday when the Colts host Jefferson in South San Francisco.

Riding on top of the league with a 5-1 mark as of Friday night, the Colts are expected to get stern competition from the Indian who sported a second-place record of 4-2 as of Friday.

Both clubs won close contests last weekend.

The Colts, behind the three-hit pitching of Paul Jones, blanked South San Francisco High School, 3-0, before a capacity crowd at Orange Avenue Park to hold the NPL lead.

Jefferson remained within striking distance by turning back Oceana High School, 8-7, in ten innings, while Terra Nova white-washed Half Moon Bay, 8-,0 behind the two-hit pitching of Bob Turner.

The Colts collected only two hits off two South San Francisco pitchers, but one of them was a bases-empty home run by John Castellanos. The two other runs were unearned, one scoring on an error and another on a wild pitch. Jones fanned three hitters.

Pete Barry singled with the bases loaded to drive in the winning run in the bottom of the tenth inning for Jefferson's victory. Dan Cafferetta homered for Jefferson in the fifth and Needham hit a three-run homer for Oceana in the sixth to tie the game. Tom Pritchard was the winning pitcher.

Mike Reynolds hit a two-run homer, Jim Sukowsky singled two runs across and Jim Maule drove another across with a single to lead Terra Nova's win over Half Moon Bay.

The Colts, after routing Oceana last Tuesday, 10-4, upped its league mark to 4-1, just one game ahead of Jeff, who blanked Terra Nova, 6-0; Westmoor, who turned back Half Moon Bay, 6-4, and South San Francisco, who drew a bye.

El Camino rode the big booming bats of Vic Ornelas and Gary Andreacchi, both of whom hit two-run homers. Ornelas cracked his round tripper in the first and Andreacchi followed suit one inning later to wrap up the contest early. Bill McGuffin also batted in a pair.

Tim Wilson and Vince Morollo rapped out homers for Oceana in a losing cause. Morollo's was a two-run shot.

Jefferson's Tom Pritchard went the distance for his second league win, striking out seven, while allowing only two men to reach second base.

For the Indians, Bob Bias slammed out a single and double; Al Namanny had two hits as did Pete Berry, and George Egan rapped a triple. Jefferson broke open a fairly close contest in the sixth when they scored three unearned runs.

In the other NPL contest, Westmoor tallied four times in the first two innings, and then hung on to hand Half Moon Bay its fifth straight loss. Westmoor opened the scoring in the first when Joe Weinberg reached first on an error, stole second, and scored on another Cougar miscue.

Panther Netters Drub Crestmoor

The Burlingame High School tennis team, led by Erik van Dillen and Bob Cookson, defeated Crestmoor, 7-0, in Mid-Peninsula League action for its fourteenth straight win on the Panther courts last week.

Grimace and Bear It

Westmoor Tracksters Roar By Indians for Fourth Win

Like the Green Tornado, the Westmoor High School track squad, cleaned out the Jefferson thinclads, 96-26, in a North Peninsula League dual track meet last Friday.

The Rams, sweeping to first place finishes in every event but two, chalked up their fourth league meet win a row, despite a great individual effort by Jefferson's Jasper Brown

Brown single-handedly prevented Westmoor from scoring a whitewash with two first places — the 100 and the low hurdles, the latter in 20.2.

For the winning Rams, Ray Simonovich took double honors, winning the high hurdles and the 440. Jim Johnston again cleared 13 feet in the pole vault.

The Westmoor B's and the C's both posted league victory number four, 82-40, and 57-38, respectively.

For the B team, a trio of double victors led the way. Paul Adami won the low hurdles and the pole vault, Dave Whiting took the shot and discus, while Bill Kitchen captured both the high jump and the broad jump.

Pacing the C's were Chuck Johnston in the pole vault and the high jump, and Frank DeStefano in the shot and the 200.

Silver Lining In Defeat

Capuchino High School's baseball team, which has fallen on lean times of late, did manage to come up with one positive accomplishment last week.

The 'Tangs spoiled a no-hit bid by Aragon's Terry Futterer on a single by Jerry Neary in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Cap lost the game, 3-0, in San Bruno.

CSM Takes 2nd in GGC Swim Meet

The Collge of San Mateo swim team will have 17 entries when the Northern California junior college championships open a two-day stand at the College of the Sequoias in Visalia Friday.

The Bulldogs garnered the 17 out of a possible 18 berths when they finished second to Foothill in the Golden Gate Conference Championships at San Jose this weekend.

Paced by Steve Johnson, who took two first places in Saturday's action, the Bulldogs tallied a strong 430 points—their finest showing in history. Foothill, as expected, won the meet with 612 points—taking 10 out of the 13 events contested on the final day. San Jose was third with 228 points.

Johnson set a new meet standard in the 100-yard breast when he negotiated the distance in 1:02.8. He also annexed the 200-yard breast with a 2:21.4 clocking.

In one of the finest races of the day, Merritt's Jeff Dwyer nosed out CSM's Don and Dave Gray in the 100-yard freestyle on a clocker's ruling.

PAT WINSLOW FROM CAPUCHINO

Olympic Star Becomes A Mother, Will Run Again

By JOHN HORGAN

THE TALL blonde, who was seated in front of a small television set tuned in to "Batman" in her San Mateo home, rose slowly and with a good deal of effort.

Pat Daniels Winslow, who, only a year and a half ago, had been representing the United States in the women's pentathalone in he 1964 Olympic Games in Tokoy, was still feeling the effects of the birth of her first child.

Born last Monday in San Mateo, Bradley Bakar Winslow is Pat's and her husband Jim's proudest possession. They both marvel at his large hands and feet and joke that he already looks like an athlete.

But, even with the duties of being a new suburban mother pressing her, Mrs. Winslow at the age of 22 is anxious to compete in athletics again.

"I can't live without sports," explained the attratcive 5-11, 174 pound ex-Capuchino High Schooler. "Really, I can't be mentally happy if I can't be active."

She continued: "Right now, for a while at least, I'm enjoying my role as a suburban mother. But I don't like TV that much." (The reasons why were obvious as the dynamic duo giggled and cavorted grotesquely on the screen.)"

Pat said she needs about three hours a day, six days a week to work out. "I am thinking about starting to work out sometime in May. I'm not sure what I'm shooting for right now but I favor the long jump."

The thought of an Olympic gold medal still haunts the well-proportioned athlete.

PAT WINSLOW
Track Beckons

WITH HER tremendous strength and endurance Pat was (and still is even in semi-retirement) the U.S. women's title holder in the pentathlon. But that event, according to Pat, might not be conducive to taking a gold medal.

"The pentathlon is great but, if you want to win it, you have to have one truly outstanding event to build up a high point total. In Tokyo the hurdles were my downfall."

However, since she does hold the pentahlon title, she will compete in that event this summer for her coach, Ed Parker of Mills High School.

She wants to keep that title because if she wins it again, the AAU will pay her expenses to meets and invitationals.

The Millbrae Lions Club will probably sponsor her this season.

PAT SHIFTED, in her seat and leaned forward, and explained what the last couple of years have been like for her and her husband, who is a San Mateo policeman.

"I like being a mother and wife. Jim is easy to get along with and he's very tolerant. I just wish he had a little more track background so he could coach me. But I'm so uncoaehable maybe it's just as well."

Jim is a student of police science at the College of San Mateo during his off-hours and wants to attend a law school in the near future.

He graduated from San Mateo High School in 1961 and married Pat on June 30, 1963. At 6-3 and 185 pounds he is an avid sportsman; skin diving, basketbll and football are his main diversions.

Pat and Jim did not announce their marriage until later in the year for a variety of reasons.

When the Olympic Games were over they determined to have a family. When Pat hung up her spikes after the Games were completed (in which she fared poorly in the pentathlon) reams of copy were turned out lamenting the retirement of one of the nation's finest female athletes.

But Pat never said she was "quitting" the sport permanently. On the contrary, she left the door open for a trturn to track, the door she is planning to re-enter now.

"It's going to be work for a while," she explained. "I plan to run in the hills behind the Crystal Springs Lakes again. That's my favorite place to run. The only thing that bothers me up there are the rattlesnakes. They scare me." She will probably work out at the San Mateo High School field too.

PAT GRADUATED from Cap in 1961. She was the youngest member of the U.S. track team in the Olympic Games of 1960 in Rome at the tender age of 16.

That year she ran the 880. "I was the baby of the team that year. Now I have my own baby."

Now, essentially, she is starting all over again.

She knows she must set up a careful schedule if she is to get back on the track again. "Any mother who is fairly well organized can do her housework in the morning and then have the afternoon to devote to something else. In my case it will be track."

Pat, who worked at Woodlake as a female health consultant for a time, is convinced that she can handle both roles: mother-wife and athlete. If I didn't think I could I wouldn't do it," she added.

AS SHE prepared to walk out into the kitchn for a glass of juice, tiny screams and cries emanated from a back bedroom. Bradley Bakar wanted attention.

Pat turned to the direction of the sound and said simply, "Bless you, Boy Wonder."

Pad Spikes Rout South S.F., 84-38

Even outside the Catholic Athletic League, Serra High School's track and field team is tough.

The Padres, unbeaten in CAL competition this season, hosted North Peninsula League contender South San Francisco High School Friday and routed the Warriors in a dual meet, 84-38.

Scott Pardi, recorded victories in the 120 high hurdles, the 150 low hurdles, and the long jump.

The top race of the afternoon was a gruelling head and head duel in the 440 between Jerry Tallon of Serra and Gary John, won by Tallon in 49.9 seconds, a new school record. It marked the initial defeat on the season for John in this event.

In the B competition, the Padres also emerged victorious over the visiting Warriors, 71-38, with Allen Galli copping both the 100 and the 220.

SSF took Class C honors, 48-37, on Steve Andriani's three wins in the 75-yard dash, the 330 and the long jump.

The Pads, now 8-1, host a triangular meet Wednesday against St. Mary's and St. Joseph's from across the Bay.

How the Mighty Hath Fallen

Serra High School pitcher Al Paganucci knows what it feels like to take his lumps.

Paganucci, who threw a no-hitter against Bellarmine of San Jose three weeks ago, had his troubles with those same Bells last Friday in San Mateo.

The South San Francisco product was bombed for four runs and eight hits in six innings as Serra lost the Catholic Athletic League contest, 8-2.

CONTRACT BRIDGED

NEW YORK —Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert has resolved a contract dispute between the Houston Astros and former General Manager Paul Richards.

Cap Swimmers Are Beaten By Mills in MPL Meeting

The Mills High School swim team dunked Capuchino last week, 60-35, thereby clinching a second place finish in the Mid-Peninsula League dual meet standings.

Mike Mesarie, of Mills, won both the 50-free and the 100-butterfly. He won the butterfly in record time, 55.2, shattering the school, pool and MPL meet marks. The time sets an unofficial MPL record because all records are based upon times recorded only in the swim finals at the end of the year.

Dave Guadagni also doubled for Mills, winning both the 100-free style and the 200-individual medley.

The Vikes also assured second place in Class B competition, winning 70-7, with Prescott Cole taking both the 50-free style and the 50-butterfly.

Capuchino won the C Division, 47-12, and finishing its season in first place, 6-0.

COMMENT

County Voters Lack Interest

A STUDY of the municipal elections in 17 of San Mateo County's 18 cities tends to show that, despite the fact that local governments are closest to the voters, the average citizen does not display as much political interest in his own community as he does toward the politics on the state and federal level. Since the county elections always coincide with the state and federal balloting it is difficult to know if county politics generate more interest than those of the individual cities.

The highest percentage of voting recorded last week for a single city was slightly over 40 per cent. Other cities where there were contests and strong issues recorded voting percentages from around 34 down to 22 per cent. Where there were no contests the voting was even lower.

By contrast San Mateo County has a good voting record in state and national elections, usually over 60 per cent and on occasion even higher—reaching into the low seventies.

The easy way to account for the poorer show of interest in local elections is to berate the voters for not turning out at the polls and to accuse them of apathy toward one of their greatest rights as citizens.

But, perhaps, the time has come to look a little deeper into why the non-voters did not cast ballots.

THIS IS A wide field of speculation when it is remembered that the percentages at the pools are calculated against the number of persons who are registered and eligible to vote. Thus we reach a curious phenomenon. Many persons, apparently, are sufficiently aware of their civic duty to make it a point to register but fail to avail themselves of their right to vote on election day.

There may be other explanations, but what this seems to indicate is that they consciously exercise a choice of elections in which they are interested enough to vote. The degree of their interest is then, quite possibly, reflected in the exact ratio of the vote cast.

The local campaigns preceding the city elections were lively and the issues and candidates well publicized. The Post and the other newspapers of the county devoted scores of pages of space and hundreds of hours of staff work to informing the public fully on each of the local elections. It is improbable that any voters were unaware of whatever importance attached to each local contest. The mailing of sample ballots assured that every registered voter knew the time and place for voting.

If interest proved disappointingly low this, again, points to deliberate choice by the non-voters to forego a trip to the polls.

Why?

IT IS DIFFICULT to answer this except with more questions. Are there too many elections? Is the majority of registered voters so satisfied with local government they feel it can be safely left alone? Or, conversely, are they sometimes so disgusted with petty bickering at lower political levels that they want no part of it? Is there a feeling that there are too many candidates for too many offices and less complicated, more centralized, elective government would be more comprehensible and efficient?

Does the non-partisan character of local elections prevent straight-ticket decision and thus weaken interest? Is there any widespread feeling that local elections have no real importance? Or are the non-voters just lazy?

Pacific Parade

The Professor's Gloomy View

Don Miller

DR. GEORGE W. HILTON who is an economics professor at the University of California at Los Angeles had some rather extraordinary things to say the other day at a hearing before the California Public Utilities Commission.

They were extraordinary because they ran directly counter to one of the tenets held by some of the best minds in transportation today. That tenet says that the key to automobile strangulation in our metropolises and magalopolitan areas is rapid transit—which means rail transportation.

It's Dr. Hilton's contention that rail transit is a thing of the past, that Americans are becoming too affluent to bother with trains—they'd rather take another mode of transportation.

The professor was testifying in behalf of the Southern Pacific Railroad's application to the PUB to discontinue the Lark, the S.P.'s overnight train between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

But Dr. Hilton didn't limit his observations to the Lark. He lumped all of rail passenger service into his funereal prediction that such service would disappear by the end of this century.

Which would mean the demise of such systems as the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, conceived as the answer to freeing the San Francisco Bay Area of the automobile commuter deluge that all but overwhelms the city each day.

WE THINK the professor has been derailed in his ivory academic tower by the lofty world of economic theory. While it is true that railroad passenger traffic is in the doldrums in America today and has been for some time, we can't envision the day when the conductor's throaty "boaaaard!" will have vanished entirely from the scene.

Rather, we see an increasing congestion in the airways and an even further lengthening of the distance between airports and downtown centers as factors that will prompt a return to the rails—if the railroads are on the ball.

And by this we mean a change in thinking on the part of such carriers as the S.P., which, as any commuter or coastal run traveler will attest, seems to have undertaken a blatantly deliberate campaign to chase the customers out of its depots and off its trains.

With the Japanese now running 130 mile-an-hour trains and engineers working on designs for others that would streak through the countryside at speeds in excess of 200 mph, it doesn't seem invalid to suggest that the technology is there for developing truly high speed rail transit.

Granted, trains aren't going to replace the long-distance, transcontinent jets. (Although they could probably design a train to zip along at supersonic speeds, the problems of safety and close-off right-of-way would be enormous.)

But for relatively short haul travel, we think rail transportation has a place in the transportation picture. Professor Hilton's gloomy forecast notwithstanding, and just how much of a place is now up to the railroads.

For somehow, we can't believe that Americans will continue to agree to the continual disfigurement of their land with new freeways, turnpikes, expressways and the like.

AS FOR BARTD, the rise or fall of its passenger revenue figures is going to be largely dependent upon how successfully the district can lure the auto-oriented Bay Area commuter off the Bayshore and Nimitz Freeways and into what has been portrayed as quite a comfortable railroad car.

The key to this campaign, in the opinion of many observers, is how well BARTD works out, or promotes, or provides for a system of feeder transportation systems that will be integrated with transit district service.

It's all right to trumpet that a Daly City commuter will be able to reach Powell and Market in X number of minutes from the Daly City terminal but how about the time it takes for the commuter to get from his home to their terminal?

The business of feeder systems is one that worries Daly City's new mayor, Al Polonsky. He sees BARTD's Daly City station as a white elephant — another Oakland Airport—if the transit district doesn't worry as much about transporting commuters to the station as it does about getting them downtown from the station.

For it makes sense to reason that a commuter who has to drive several miles from his home to the station is going to be tempted to just keep on driving and leave the subway to the motorman and the conductor.

Yet, at this point, we haven't heard of any plans to provide a co-ordinated system of supplementary transportation for BARTD in the Daly City or North County area.

And so with the forthcoming completion of the linkup between the Southern and Junipero Serra Freeways and construction of the new freeway on San Francisco's eastern edge, it just could be that Polonsky's white elephant prediction will all come true.

☆ ☆ ☆

WHILE WE'RE involved with transportation this morning, we'd like to think that it wasn't just a lot of talk the State Highway Commission came up with last week in answering a request by North County officials for a speedup on building the Cabrillo Freeway to link the Edgemar and Junipero Serra Freeways.

The Commission promised to see if funds couldn't be allocated sooner than now budgeted for the link.

It's a maxim of freeway building that the more freeways, the more traffic—and vice versa. One generates the other. Now the North County has two new freeways—Junipero Serra in Daly City and Pacifica's concrete swath—and there isn't any connection between the two.

The inevitable result, as Polonsky told the commission last week, is going to be a funneling and wandering of traffic through residential areas to get from one freeway to the other. And that, we think you'll agree, is something nobody wants.

Cheap Tires Are Dangerous

Lorene Beasley

NO OTHER item can be as dangerous as a cheap recapped tire or a low-grade new tire.

As the grading of tires is directly related to the saefty features of the car, no other item should be more carefully checked for factors other than price.

Attracting customers by the use of advertised low prices has been accepted for years as the American way of doing business. However, in no other area has the believability of advertising been so abused, the gullibility of the pulbic so taken for granted.

Over 1,000 different brands of tires appear on the market today. They are sold under both manufacturer's and private labels. There is no valid industry-wide system of tire grading so the consumer has no means of accurately comparing the relative grade or safety of the tires he purchases.

The phenomenal bargains advertised by some of the national tire advertisers greatly help to contribute to consumer deception in the selection of proper and safe tire for individual needs.

Discount catalogs flood the mails with "half price" sales and tires that have no relation to any recognized consumer product testing or rating organization other than "I can get it for you wholesale!".

AFTER MORE than a year of research, the Federal Trade Commission has concluded that serious problems exist which require immediate attention.

The Commission has published a revision and enlargement of the Tire Advertising Guides adopted in 1958.

Among the significant changes are:

(A) A REQUIREMENT that the load-carrying capacity of tires be disclosed to the consumer to assist in the selection of the proper and safe tire for the use intended and that such information respecting load-carrying capacity be based on actual tests utilizing adequate and technically sound procedures, with the results and the procedures set forth in writing and available for inspection.

(B) A REQUIREMENT that whenever any representation is made as to "grade," "line," or "level" of a tire, a clear disclaimer be included that no industry-wide or other accepted system of quality standards of grading of tires exists.

(C) A PROHIBITION against the use of the expression "ply rating" and a requirement that the actual ply count be disclosed.

THE COMMISSION found that many of the tire industry's current guarantee practices have generally been found to be deceptive. Their opinion is that the best means of eliminating the deception would be to provide guarantee adjustments to be computed on the original purchase price or the dealer's actual selling price at the time of adjustment and not prorated from a artificially created high manufacturer price, resulting in the customer often getting little or no allowances on his guarantee.

Guide Number 15 — Deceptive Pricing adopted by the Commission, became effective May 10th.

The Commission found widespread unethical advertising which actually gave the consumer no actual saving.

The new tire guide requires that advertised reductions in price and savings claims on tires be based on the actual selling price of the tires in the trade areas where the representations are made.

Claims made on no trade-in price can only be used where it is clearly shown that they set forth the actual monetary savings to the purchaser.

The new wire guide also requires that advertised prices either include the amount of Federal excise tax or the exact amount of the tax be stated in the advertisement.

'Funny Girl' Is a Smash

Barbara Bladen

"FUNNY GIRL" isn't sung entirely in Yiddish, it just sounds that way most of the time at the Curran Theatre where it opened last week as the first of an auspicious season of Civic Light Opera musicals.

It's all in keeping with the life story of Fanny Brice, the comedienne extraordinaire who laughed on the outside and cried on the inside through a glittering career as a vaudeville star, Follies girl and radio personality. She died in 1951 but lives again in this vibrant musical biography.

From one who saw "Funny Girl" on Broadway with Barbra Streisand, let me give two whoops and a holler for Marilyn Michaels. Both girls are Jewish, both are song belters, both have excess energy and even look alike. And they've both patterned their roles after a famous performer whose characteristics are as equally dominant. Miss Michaels seems a carbon copy of Miss Streisand but believe me, the former sings a lot better, gives more heart to her role and doesn't suffer from following Barbra. She improved the show for me.

Fanny Brice was a natural shouter, on stage and off. So it's a noisy, loud musical with a whale of a good score by Jule Styne and Bob Merrill. That she rose from obscurity in the Lower East Side of New York (there's a tuneful tribute to her neighborhood in the song "Henry Street"), made her way up through the Yiddish theatre, vaudeville and finally the peak of success in the Ziegfeld Follies, provides plenty of color. Centered around her second marriage to the handsome and suave gambler, Nicky Arnstein, it covers their tumultuous meeting, marriage and separation.

FANNY, WHO LATER MARRIED producer Billy Rose and whose daughter Frances is presently married to "Funny Girl" producer Ray Stark, was a pretty woman who made herself look funny. There are only a few moments in this biographical extravaganza when I was fully aware that it was Fanny's career I was following on the stage and not just another highly polished vehicle. That's when she dons Army fatigues, sets a pair of horn-rim glasses on her nose and clomps about in high regulation boots in "Rat-Tat-Tat-Tat" or "I'm Private Schwartz from Rockaway." It was a pullback to another era when shows were spectacular and comediennes were funny instead of vulgar.

A Birthday Proclamation

The Book Shelf

Shelves Feature New Selections

Samuel Chandler

IN THE What's New Department try these on for size: "The Ragged, Rugged Warriors" by Martin Caidin; "The Fine Art of Murder"; "Favorite Trial Stories"; "Tomorrow's Hidden Season" by George Byram; "King of the Hill" by Thomas J. Fleming, and John Rowan Wilson's "Hall of Mirrors."

"The Ragged, Rugged Warriors" tells of the air war in the Far East and Pacific from the Japanese invasion of China in 1937 to the Battle of Midway in June 1942, which marked the turning point of the War against Japan.

It's a story of men who fought in bucking, rolling planes with no rules of war and no traditions of combat to guide them. It is adventure in the skies and heroism in the presence of blood and death. It recreates the hardships and sacrifices of Americans and others in the far-flung theaters of war.

"The Fine Art of Murder" is advertised as eleven "delightfully lethal true tales." While it's fun, it is not for the squeamish, the timid, the frightened reader. In the introduction the editor, one Walter B. Gibson, states that murder is an art after the basic pattern set by Cain who slew his brother Abel.

The pattern calls for a motive, usually hatred; the deed committed in cold blood, and the consequences imposed by society. The real artist must disguise the motive and make the crime appear to be a normal or accidental death with no resulting problems or inconveniences to the perpetrator.

Following the introduction are tales by Stewart Holbrook, Carl Carmer and nine others. Number eight will put a curl in your hair. It is "The She-Devil of Nagyrev" by Avery Hale. Number nine is way out, "The Man Who Came Back" by S. N. Phillips, Carl Carmer's piece is "The Tale of the Murderous Philologist With But One Big Toe."

"FAVORITE TRIAL STORIES" contains 18 tales that have been selected by R. K. Adams.

Included are fictitious tales as well as some that are true. Among them are some old favorites: Justice Felix Frankfurter's account of the Sacco and Vanzetti trial; Agatha Christie's "The Witness for the Prosecution," and Stephen Vincent Benet's immortal "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

For excitement try "The Night of Charity" by Rafael Sabatini; "The Benefit of the Doubt" by Jack London, and "The Memorable Trial of Bardell Pickwick" by Charles Dickens.

"Tomorrow's Hidden Season," by George Byram is a gothic novel like many that flood the mails these days. It centers around Alfredo Ortega, the illegitmate son of a beautiful Mexican woman. Acts of violence and torturous struggles punctuate his life and those of the other characters in the story.

"KING OF THE HILL" is Thomas J. Fleming's latest exploration of power politics in a large American City: While the usual types are there, this is a significant novel leading to a deep probe of the conscience of a city in a crisis.

"The Hall of Mirrors" is the story of doctors on trial, telling of an intense drama raging in the minds of the two chief figures in a courtroom trial.

One of the chief factors is the Brook-Halder, a computer that is supposed to be able to diagnose illness more swiftly and accurately than the human mind.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

GOD MIGHT have made the earth bring forth
Enough for great and small,
The oak tree and the cedar tree,
Without a flower all.
Outward life requires them not,
Then wherefore had they birth?
To minister delight to man,
To beautify the earth.

Mary Howitt wrote those lines about flowers but it seems they might apply also to one of the coming events in the social world, the Fuchsia Ball.

Like the flowers in Miss Howitt's verse, the world could get along without glamorous balls and festive parties with chic gowns but what a lot of delight and gaiety would be lost! Then, too, the Fuchsia Ball has a second type of beauty—it provides the funds to help with the fine work done by the members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

Occasionally, the purpose for a benefit is forgotten amid the fun of the event and, especially in the case of the Fuchsia Ball, this is unfortunate for the ball. For the ball, as well as being a gracious and gala evening, has the additional beauty of being the means by which much assistance is afforded Mary's Help Hospital by its auxiliary.

Mrs. Phillip Glebow is general chairman of the ball, which has as its theme, "Vista Grande, Gateway to the Future," and as its goal the purchase of new equipment for Mary's Help Hospital. Assisting Mrs. Glebow with the arrangements is her co-chairman, Mrs. William Corbett.

According to Mrs. Thomas J. Calderola, publicity chairman, the traditional dinner dance will be staged in the Continental Ballroom. Tickets, costing $12.50 per person, may be obtained by calling Mrs. Fred Mortara at PL 6-0668.

THE ASSOCIATION for Childhood Education will hold its annual scholarship and installation dinner and white elephant sale May 10 in Olympia School.

☆ ☆ ☆

MRS. RAFAEL P. BRICCA, president of the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association, and Mrs. Marshall Sanders, president of the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association Auxiliary, will be hostesses for the reception honoring the new Phoebe Hearst Preschool Learning Center tomorrow afternoon from 4 until 6 p.m.

The public is invited to tour the new school, located at Laguna and Ellis Streets, and view a collection of movies showing child art.

MR. AND MRS. HAYNES FINCH of Westlake; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Finch of Sonora and their children, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickinson and their children from Rheem Valley, have just returned from a trip to El Paso, Tex., where they joined other members of the Finch family in celebrating the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. David Finch.

Mrs. Louise Pack, sister of Haynes Finch, was the hostess at the reception honoring her parents. Her daughter, Mrs. James Dick, entertained at the family dinner held the week prior to the large reception.

Guests heard telegrams read from President Lyndon B. Johnson and from Texas Governor John Connolly.

MEMBERS OF the Daly City Belle Tones gathered in the new Larkspur home of Jolyne Liberati to enjoy a surprise luncheon honoring Jacqueline Madden, former Westlake resident, who is currently getting settled in her new home in San Anselmo.

Following the luncheon, the guests, who included Jackie's mother, Mrs. Dorothey Deasey, Mrs. Patti Stolz, Mrs. Janet Holden, Mrs. Betty Elliott, Mrs. Janet Gilmore, Mrs. Adela Zamora, Mrs. Virginia De Francis, Mrs. Shirly Cowan, Mrs. Kay Kaufman and Mrs. Dareen Marlow, the ladies toured Jolyne's garden and forest (the Liberatis have 28 redwood trees on their lot) and then drove to San Anselmo to tour the Madden home with its own creek wandering beside its huge patio and set in a woodsy area.

MEMBERS OF the Women's Auxiliary of Bethel Lutheran Church, 2535 Alemany Boulevard, are preparing to welcome the public to the annual Spring Festival being planned for Friday, May 6, in the church parish hall.

According to Mrs. Norma Pulliam, corresponding secretary for the auxiliary, the doors of the hall will open at 11:30 a.m. and luncheon will be served between noon and 1:30 p.m. The festival will feature a boutique with greetings cards, fancy work, and gift items of all types of baked goods.

☆ ☆ ☆

DALY CITY'S newest vocal group, the Entertainers, have been hopping from one engagement to another, keeping members Patti Parks, Janet Holden, Walter Jeter Jr., Bob Meyers, Betty Elliot and Marlene Hansen exceedingly busy.

The group is scheduled to appear at a testimonial dinner tomorrow evening and will perform again Saturday for the Nomads of the Pythian Order when they gather in the Daly City House of Parties.

☆ ☆ ☆

THE KENNELLY DANCERS and the Irish Bagpipe Band will join with the Parish Children's Chorus and the children's folk dance exhibition to provide lively entertainment for the Holy Angels Spring Festival.

Also in the planning stage is a booth to be manned by members of the 49er Football team who will hand out autographs to the small fry.

Date for the benefit is May 7.

SATURDAY EVENING is the time to enjoy a delicious dinner from Joe's of Westlake in Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall. The occasion will be a part of the Bit of Erin Festival, and dinner chairmen Mrs. Kay O'Brien and William Feeley are promising a sumptious spread between 4 and 7 p.m. Adults will be charged $1.75 and children will enjoy the roast chicken dinner for only 75 cents. Call Mrs. Jean McNab, PL 6-6432, or Mrs. Janet Sullivan, PL 6-4071 for reservations.

Friends of Library To Review 'Last Battle'

A book by Cornelius Ryan, author of "The Longest Day," will be the subject of a review at the Westlake Library on Southgate Avenue tomorrow morning from 10 to 11:30.

The review is sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library.

Ryan's book, "The Last Battle," which will be discussed by Mrs. Lee Jones, has been highly praised by critics and by General James Gavin, who took a vital role in the action upon which the book is based.

The volume is currently on the best-seller lists.

It is an account of the fall of Berlin in World War II, bringing into focus the strategy behind the decisions to allow the Russians to take the city first.

Mrs. Jones, who holds a master of arts degree in American literature and has spoken to several Daly City groups, has previously reviewed "The Source" for the group.

The first half hour of the meeting will be devoted to a coffee social period. Friends of the Library urge the public to attend.

FROZEN SHRIMP

Some good cooks freeze cooked shrimp for a day or two before using when they want to get the shrimp preparation out of the way; longer freezing may toughen the seafood.

MEDIUM SHERRY

If a recipe calls for sherry and doesn't specify the type to be used, you'll probably be safe in using medium sherry.

Brownie Unit Holds Dinner

Brownie Troop No. 2893 under the leadership of Mrs. Vincent Hussey and co-leader Mrs. Tony Zidich, helped the girls of this troop to celebrate their annual Father-Daughter Dinner.

This happy event was held this year in the Parish Hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church.

These Brownie Scouts made up the program which followed the delicious chicken dinner. Honor guest at this affair was Rev. Powers.

The Cinderella play was acted out by: Ellen Murray, Ellen Coghlan, Janice Kelechave, Anne Gillignn, Jolene Cristofani, Maureen Bigon.

The Puppet Show was skillfully handled by: Susan Baker, Maryanne Fambrini, Joan Columbini.

Putting the spotlight on themselves, was a play entitled "The Brownies," acted by: Debra Zidich, Karen and Debby Culpepper, Maureen and Eileen Mahoney, and Nanette Steffen.

Not to leave out the popular programs they enjoy, Laura Hussey, Michele Modena, Denise Bistolfi, Maryanne Follan, and Clare Toccolino, presented the Batman Play. Denise Bistolfi presented the dance number.

Brownies of Troop No. 2893 worked hard at their plans for this event, and were pleased and happy with success of their father-daughter dinner.

Time Now to Plan Brunch Parties at Bay Meadows

PAID A VISIT TO BAY MEADOWS RACE TRACK, the other A.M., and, from the goings-on in the "office area" of JOE COHEN'S "thoroughbred plant," one would never know that the CALIFORNIA JOCKEY CLUB race meet in San Mateo wasn't in full bloom. MAE FEIST DeVOL, Mr. Cohen's "on the ball" secretary, extended a cordial greeting with a pleasant smile, but kept right on answering the phone and typing—with Joseph calling for company and personal phone numbers from his plush office. Luckily, I arrived just a few moments before the "take five" break, so was invited to partake of a sweet roll and coffee. EMILY McADAMS, California Jockey Club Director of Special Events, who was sitting nearby, told me that she has already started to take reservations for the forth-coming race meet from private groups who enjoy "A Day at the Races" plus the special brunch. Emily said arrangements are made to suit the customers—even up to a private chartered Greyhound Bus for transporting large groups. This bit of information should prove helpful for those who "think ahead." There's no time like the present to make reservations. Also, bear in mind that May 26 the CALIFORNIA HORSE RACING ASSOCIATION will hold a Harness and Quarter Horse meet through June 20. You may also plan a brunch and enjoy a day of racing for this exciting event. For Harness Race reservations, phone 341-1067; for the California Jockey Club, FI 5-1661.

A BIG REASON FOR THE SUCCESS of Nick Finocchio's delightful San Francisco New Tivoli, over the years, is the consistently fine Italian food. The kitchen "team" responsible for this culinary excellence, Chef Primo Pichetti, Assistant Chef Aaron Steffen and Cook John Jung, have all been with Nick for more than 20 years. . . . Phil Lehr broke his record for mink coats in the elegant new Wellington Room at his Steakery, last Saturday night. Phil counted 47 of them at one time. . . . "Summer is here," says Sil Oliva, the Fisherman's Wharf Exposition Fish Grotto "skipper." Business these days is now at the usual summer peak. Sea food fans have chosen well when picking the Exposition for sea food fare. . . . Juliet Prowse is a "jackpot winner" for John Ascuaga's Sparks Nugget. Miss Prowse, along with Poncie Ponce from "Hawaiian Eye" fame, are keeping the Circus Room reservation book filled with fun-seeking patrons.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT that someday you would be able to sit down in a restaurant and enjoy "all the Buttermilk Pancakes you could eat for just one price?" Well, this is now possible Mondays at FOSTER'S ORIGINAL PANCAKE AND CHICKEN HOUSE in San Mateo. Yes, sir, all you can eat for 65 cents (50 cents for children under 10 years of age). Make Foster's your "Monday Morning Special" and enjoy a genuine pancake feast. Not overlooking the countless other menu goodies, of course, such as eggs any style, Chopped Sirloin Steak, Roast Turkey dinner, Beef Pot Roast and Farm Fried Chicken. BRIGHT LIGHTS highly recommends Foster's for any appetite. Or you might prefer having the food prepared to go. This is no problem at Foster's—but a pleasure. NORMAN SANDERS is the new manager of the San Mateo Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House and welcomes the opportunity to serve you.

COMEDIAN DAVE ASTOR opened at the Playboy Club's Penthouse Room, last week, and brought with him some of the funniest comedy routines about today. Astor takes the audience on an excursion into the worlds of psychiatry, blended with a bit of ancient history ("Moses and the Single Girl"), re-hipped for modern listeners. Also billed is the Al Plank Trio . . . Pianobar entertainment by talented Jim Coniff is spotlighted every Friday and Saturday evening at Duane Eckert and Dave Rasmussen's pop Cap'ns Cabin cocktail lounge on B Street, which is favored by the Peninsula's own inhabitants and tourists, alike . . . The sizzling new revue at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto, headlines Topless Dori Lane, the fabulously endowed young lady who was Carol Doda's replacement last summer. Vicky Alvarez, the fiery Latin singer and exotic, tasset-twirls with a cocktail balanced on her head—and nary a drop is spilled. This is your last weekend to see Johnny Platt, the fantastic trickster who appeared on the Mike Douglas show with his Oriental magic.

NOW THAT MY GOOD FRIEND NICK GUST has his hat in the political ring (Councilman) in Pacifica, I'm going to turn my "campaign contacts" to seeing just what can be done to create a position for Enrico Romano, another popular restaurateur from that ocean-side restaurant "oasis." If there was a "Hot-rod Racing Commissioner," or "Director of Pizza Production," Enrico would win in a walk. This Romano's Restaurant host-owner is a great hand-shaker and a philanthropical millionaire in his own right. . . . Business at the International Inn Restaurant in South San Francisco couldn't be better, according to Manager Doug Young. The place looked more like Barney's Casino in Lake Tahoe (South Shore) than a gourmet dining house, last week. The coffee shop was jam-packed, every table in the dining room was occupied, and the bartender in the cocktail lounge couldn't get the drinks poured fast enough. . . . Entertainment in downtown San Mateo is well taken care of at the Third Avenue Bat Cave seven nights a week. Your hosts here are Jim Scott and Bob Pemberton.

New Sunday Hours Gourmet Table

Special attention (especially those who have been disappointed by not being able to be served because of the crowds): The new Sunday hours at the popular Gourmet Table on El Camino Real are 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. Good idea to arrive early and avoid the food rush. Convenient parking in back of the "All You can eat" restaurant.

So many mentions have been made, recently, about the number of Rolls-Royces parked outside the Cote D'Azur Continental restaurant in Atherton that the Bentley people dispatched two of their slick beauties over there to see if they could reap some of the free publicity.

PUBLICITY IS HIT

Change of Venue Is Asked For in Trial

The attorney for Michael A. Gaspar, who is accused of participating in the extortion bombings of two north county supermarkets has asked that his trial be held in Santa Clara County.

Lawyer Carlos Tinsley told Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley that the 20-year-old Pacifica youth "can't obtain a fair and impartial trial in San Mateo County" because of newspaper publicity given the case.

Tinsley submitted 14 newspaper articles, including some from The Times, to support his claim. Judge Hartley said he would read the stories and rule on Tinsley's motion for a change of venue at 9 a.m. April 17.

Earlier, Judge Hartley denied Tinsley's motion to suppress evidence seized by Pacifica police in a search of Gaspar's home at 353 Clifton Road. The evidence included such things as wire, batteries, tools and tape.

Tinsley asserted that police "trumped up" an arrest of Gaspar on a traffic warrant in order to gain entry to the youth's home "because they knew they didn't have enough evidence to get a search warrant.

Deputy Districy Attorney James Browning called to the stand Police Officer Edwin Sarsfield, who told of the arrest on the traffic warrant, and Inspector Albert Tevaldi, who testified that the defendant and the defendant's father, Steve Gaspar, his stepfaher, Frank Muniz, and his mother, Mrs. Sophie Muniz, all consented to the search.

The elder Gaspar and Mr. and Mrs. Muniz said they consented, however, only because they wanted to help Michael and because Tebaldi said he could get a search warrant if they did not. And, they said, they did not sign the consent form until the search had been completed.

The defendant's father testified that he did not know what he was signing because he cannot read English very well. Under questioning by Judge Hartley, the witness stated, however, that he had passed the literacy test to register of vote, and had been able to pass an examination for a driver's license.

Tinsley accused Hartley of conducting "an inquisition" and "badgering the witness." The judge scolded Tinsley for the outburst but took no further action.

Cap to Note 'Week' With Open House

To observe Public Schools Week this week, Capuchino High School will host an open house today from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Parents and other community-minded people who have an interest in Capuchino's young people are invited to attend.

The open house is an annual event designed to give parents and friends a chance to meet the teachers, observe various class activities, and see the facilities and educational offerings of the school.

The program for the evening will be an open one with an invitation to vist all departments. Planned activities will be held in each area with exhibits and demonstrations. Teachers will be on hand to greet parents and explain the curriculum.

Students from the Capuchino Girls' Assocation will hand out programs and maps and serve as guides around the campus.

Commission Studies Kids' Play Needs

Children from the Linda Mar Elementary School, who have requested additional recreation facilities in their area, had their needs reviewed by the Park, Beach and Recreation Commission in Pacifica at a meeting Wednesday night.

Eldred Lokker, commission chairman, said that the matter will come under discussion again at a joint meeting in May of the City Council and the Laguna Salada School District.

"There may be a possibility" of additional recreational use of school grounds in that area, he said.

"I don't know about a skate board rink, though," he added. This request was included in a petition sent to the commission by more than 30 children last month.

Sponsorship by the commission of a new Community Cultural Co-ordinating Committee was referred to the Policy Committee for further study and consideration by the commission on May 4.

The new committee merges two former groups, the Friends of the Library and the Culture Room Committee for the Library.

Mrs. Enid Emde and Bob Southworth represented the new committee which will foster cultural and educational programs in Pacifica and the use of the new Library Community Room.

Resolution Asks Action On Erosion

An Assembly Joint Resolution was unanimously passed by the State Senate last week, urging Congress and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to take whatever action is necessary to correct severe erosion and pollution conditions in the Miramar and El Granada beach areas.

The resolution was co-authored by San Mateo County Senator Richard J. Dolwig and Assemblyman Carl Britschgi.

The resolution noted that both recreational beach areas have been subjected to severe erosion of late, and will continue to deteriorate unless remedial action is taken.

A definite health hazard has risen by the washout of the El Granada Sanitary District's main line which, Dolwig said, has "created an emergency of considerable magnitude.

He added that copies of the resolution would be sent to the President and Vice President of the United States, Speaker of the House, to each Senator and Representative from California in the Legislature, and to the Chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

Blowout Halts 100 MPH Chase Through Daly City

A blown-out tire brought an abrupt end to a police chase that reached speeds up to 100 miles an hour in Daly City early Thursday morning.

Police arrested David Rodrigues, 36, of 307 Genevieve Avenue, Pacifica, and charged him with reckless driving, running a stop sign and failing to heed a red light and siren.

The suspect was seized when his car blew a tire on Skyline Boulevard, south of Westmoor Avenue, and the auto careened up an embankment, spun around and came to a stop.

Patrolman Barry Langberg, who was pursuing the fleeing car, said it was "a miracle" Rodrigues wasn't killed when the tire blew out.

The chase started at Mission and Wilson Streets while Langberg was writing out a citation to Rodrigues for a stop sign violation.

Langberg said the suspect, waiting in his car, suddenly drove away. Langberg at the time had possession of Rodrigues' driver's license.

The chase zipped along Mission and Los Banos Avenue and proceeded west on Alemany Boulevard to Skyline.

Langberg said Rodrigues drove through a half dozen red signals during the course of the pursuit.

Firemen Hurt In Bruno Fire

Three firemen were slightly injured and an estimated $4,200 damage incurred in San Bruno Saturday afternoon when fire raged through the garage and attic of a home while the residents were away.

Firemen say they found flames shooting 25 feet into the air when they arrived at the Stan Brice home at 2370 Evergreen Avenue in the Rollingwood area.

Injured during the firefighting were:

Deputy Chief Lee Moore, who suffered a puncture wound from a nail in the foot; Capt. George Roumbanis, an ankle bruise; and Clif Middendorf, a lacerated finger.

The fire had apparently started near a utility center that included a washer, dryer, and furnace, firemen say.

Mrs. Brice told them later that she had been using the clothes dryer, and had checked only 15 minutes before the 2:45 p.m. blaze was sighted.

The flames had eaten their way up into the attic of the wood-framed garage, firemen say, into the attic over the adjoining kitchen and living room, and through the wood-shingled roof.

Despite Saturday's high temperatures, which made men uncomfortable in the heavy firefighting clothing, they were thankful that there was no cooling wind.

Neighboring homes could have been endangered by sparks or embers from the flaming shingles if a wind had come up, firemen say.

Much of the personal property in the garage, including a pool table and the appliances, was ruined by the blaze.

Smoke damage was reported throughout the house.

Using fog-spray nozzles and several hoses, firemen had the major portion of the blaze extinguished within a short time.

TOOLS STOLEN

Officials of the Braun Plumbing Company of Berkeley reported to Daly City police Monday that thieves had stolen miscellaneous tools from sheds at the site of the Daly City Civic Center.

WINDOW BROKEN

Pouilina Dmytraszczuk of 32 Vendome Street, Daly City, reported to police Monday that someone had broken a window in her porch.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

Let's declare this "make-a-meal-out-of-a-pound-of-ground-meat-week." For I have a collection of recipes that do just that little trick. And I'm sure you will be just as glad to get them as I was.

This first recipe is a casserole and combines ground beef with zucchini, a pleasing combination, and adds a cheese sauce that completes the dish.

BEEF ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 6 medium zucchini
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2 T'sp. oil
- ½ cup cracker crumbs
- 2 teas. salt
- Pepper to taste
- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup grated cheese

Wash zucchini and cut off ends. Cook whole in boiling, salted water about eight minutes. Drain and cut in half-inch slices. Cook onions in oil about three minutes. Add ground beef; cook until lightly browned and pour off excess oil. Stir in crumbs, one teaspoon salt and pepper. Remove from heat.

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter, remaining salt, pepper, and milk. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Place half of zucchini slices in a greased two-quart casserole. Add half of beef mixture, then half of cheese sauce. Repeat layers. Bake 25 minutes in 350-degree oven. Serves six.

WE WILL NOW have a little question and answer period. First question: "Do you like applesauce?" Most of you will answer that question in the affirmative. And if I asked, "Do you like ground meat?" Again the answer would probably be yes. But if I asked if you ever considered combining the two, you would probably say, "no," and even toss in something like "eek" or "ack."

This next recipe will change those eek's and ack's to oh's and ah's. For it does combine these two very different foods in a dish that's delish. Of course, there are other ingredients that add to the compatability and the result is something you and your family will like.

Another nice thing about this dish is the fact that you can make the whole thing ahead and place it in the refrigerator to wait until you are ready to bake it. So it's great for the day when you are out of the house until the last minute.

APPLESAUCE MEATBALLS

- 1 lb. ground meat
- ½ cup crushed cornflakes
- ½ medium onion, finely chopped
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 beaten egg
- ¼ cup applesauce
- 1 can tomato sauce

Combine ground beef, cornflakes, onion, salt and pepper, garlic salt, egg and applesauce. Mix thoroughly and shape into small balls. Place in a roasting pan and pour tomato sauce over the top. Bake one hour in 350-degree oven. Serves four generously.

☆ ☆ ☆

LAST, BUT by no means least, we'll talk about making chard rolls. You combine ground beef with Parmesan cheese, onion and lots of other good things, roll this into chard leaves and cook all in a rich spaghetti sauce. Good? Terrific!

CHARD ROLLS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- ¼ cup Parmesan cheese
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- Pepper to taste
- 1 can tomato sauce
- ½ cup rice, instant or minute rice
- 1 large bunch chard
- 1 can solid pack tomatoes
- 1 pkg. spaghetti sauce mix

Combine ground beef, Parmesan cheese, onion, garlic, salt and pepper, tomato sauce and uncooked instant rice.

Clean chard and cut off white stems. (You may chop these up and add them to the dish later.) Shape meat into rolls and wrap chard leaves around them. Place in a large Dutch oven or pan with tight cover. Now is the time to add the chopped stems.

Prepare the spaghetti sauce, using solid pack tomatoes as directed on the package. Pour this over chard rolls. Cover and cook over moderate heat for about an hour or an houh and a quarter. It took this long for the rice to reach the right degree of tenderness for me.

Play Areas on Lewis Lane, Crespi Drive Said Lacking

A residential block in Pacifica, populated with many small children, was discussed by the Pacifica Safety Commission at a meeting last week.

Lewis Lane in the Edgemar area, according to Safety Chairman Mrs. EDee Bly, has 60 children of kindergarten age and under who have no place to play. There are no nearby parks, she said.

Another area of concern discussed by Safety Commission, was all of Crespi Drive.

According to Mrs. Bly, this area also contains many small children who play on the sidewalks and often dart across the street, which is a main thoroughfare.

One child has been injured and one killed by automobiles on Crespi in the last few months, she explained.

In order to control the parking of automobiles during the day, Mrs. Bly said that residents of the area will be polled by the commission to determine the feasibility of driveway or one-side-of-the-street parking.

After hearing complaints by residents that Beechview Street in Fairmont is poorly lighted, the commission decided to recommend to the city council that higher intensity lamps be installed.

Mrs. Bly added, however, that unless residents sign written complaints to the commission, no helpful action can be taken.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

N. County Center To Host Seminar

The North County Mental Health Center at 45 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, will host a day-long seminar on occupational therapy and community psychiatry Saturday.

The seminar is sponsored by the American Occupational Therapy Association, the Northern California Occupational Therapy Association and the center.

About 60 psychiatric occupational therapists from California and other states and other people interested in community mental health programs will attend and discuss the role of the occupational therapist in the changing psychiatric field.

Aileen Yamaguchi, psychiatric occupational therapist, who will celebrate her first anniversary with the center in June, has co-ordinated the seminar with June L. Mazer, consultant in psychiatric rehabilitation, American Occupational Therapy Association, and Marcia Michalski, president of the Northern California Occupational Therapy Association and chairman of the special meeting.

Program development officer, Dr. Luc Ozarin, of the Community Facilities Branch of the National Institute of Metal Health in Bethesda, Md., will speak on "The New Community Mental Health Centers."

Others particiapting in the seminar will be staff members of the North County Mental Health Center.

Dr. Howard Gurevitz, executive director of the center, and Dr. Paul Wachter, head of the center's day-hospital, will speak on "The Challenge of the New Clinical Approaches."

Miss Yamaguchi and John Dabney, psychiatric social worker at the center and Madge Iverson of the Fort Logan Mental Health Center in Colo., will discuss the "New Roles for the Psychiatric Occupational Therapist."

Carol Cummings, psychiatric nurse at the center, also will participate in the seminar. The program will conclude with a discussion of current problems and educational needs.

The center's volunteers will act as hostesses and tour guides for the visiting occupational therapists.

D.C. Survey: Support For Expanded Bus Lines

Results of Daly City's Bus Transit Survey were announced last week, with the completion of tabulation of 7,167 questionnaires.

The number of replies represented a response of approximately 44 per cent of the 16,000 residents to whom survey cards were sent last month, according to Joseph Arch, finance director.

The results seem to indicate that a substantial number of Daly City residents would utilize a bus service which came within three blocks of their homes, on a 10-minute schedule at rush hours and a 20 to 30-minute basis at other times.

More than half of those surveyed said they would use such a service regularly to and from work. Two-thirds said they would take advantage of the service for shopping and other purposes.

Fares were also considered, with a 15-cent rate favored by 3,176 of those answering. Another 2,999 said they would pay 20 cents, while 1,697 people said they would consider paying a quarter.

As to present bus usage, 2,695 respondents said they presently ride the San Francisco Municipal Railway regularly. Northgate Transit Company buses are used by 1,938 on a regular basis, and 1,691 use Greyhound service.

While those who do not use buses regularly outnumbered those who do by more than three-to-two, residents who said they would use an expanded service hold a three-to-one edge over those who would not.

The results of the survey will be turned over to D. Jackson Faustman, a consultant hired by the city council in January to conduct a comprehensive transportation study for Daly City.

His report, due to be presented to the council in about one month, will cover not only recommendations based on the bus survey but also results of his studies of other transportation systems, including rapid transit.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Regular Dental Care.

Reduction of the consumption of sugar, proper toothbrushing can do much to reduce the prevalence of dental decay in children. All dental decay, however, cannot be prevented. There is no substitute for regular visits to the dentist.

Your children should pay their first visit to the dentist between two and one half and three years of age, shortly after all their primary teeth have erupted.

There are a number of advantages in early and frequent visits to the dentist:
(1) tooth defects and dental disease can be detected and corrected in their early stages
(2) the dentist can observe and correct irregularities in the growth of teeth
(3) pain can be prevented
(4) the cost of care can be reduced.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Jeff Board Takes Look At Westmoor

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District last week got a close-up look at overcrowding that has plagued Westmoor High School this year.

Principal Glenn South led trustees on a tour of the school. He pointed out temporary classrooms in hallways and other areas of overcrowding.

Trustees have authorized the rental of 20 portable classrooms for the 1966-67 school year.

Westmoor expects to enroll some 2,300 students next year. The present plant is designed to accommodate 1,618.

As outlined by South, nine of the portable units would house the school's burgeoning classes. Four more would replace rooms presently occupying hallway areas, and another would replace a small triangular former hallway now used to house art classes.

Other units would replace a classroom to be used for a teachers' workroom; be used for physical education instruction; expand the industrial arts program and replace a storage area which would be converted to a hallway, as originally planned by the school's architects.

Rental and installation of the units, along with connections for utilities, bell system and other work, will cost some $65,000.

South told the board that an additional ten portable rooms will be required a year from now.

Among the decisions now facing the board and administration is the location of the new units.

South suggested that the classroom buildings be placed at the north end of the building, where access would be provided by removing a maintenance storeroom and three walls specifically designed to be removable in case of exapnsion.

The art unit, South suggested, should be placed adjacent to present art rooms, at the school's east side. It would be used to house such "messy activities" as sculpture.

It Was The Wrong House

Sixteen-year-old Christine Schmellenkamp of 547 Skyline Boulevard, Daly City, arrived home from school last Wednesday to find a man sleeping in the master bedroom.

Trouble was, she told police, the man didn't live there.

Police sped to the scene and roused Charles W. Graf, 59, who told them he had mistaken the house for his own. He lives at 23 Northridge Drive, a short distance away.

When Graf tried to walk, he was unable to and needed assistance from officers.

He was arrested for being drunk in public, police said.

2 Youths Named To A.F. Academy

Two Westmoor High School seniors, both scholastic leaders and varsity athletes, have been appointed to the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

They are Timothy G. Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Herbert of 736 Thornhill Drive, Colma, and Brad J. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Hansen of 1345 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City.

The appointments were announced by Congressman J. Arthur Younger. The legislator said the appointments were based upon the boys' high scores in an examination held at Stanford University.

Both youths had won scholarships to Stanford. They indicated, however, they will accept the appointments to the academy.

Herbert also had won a state scholarship. He is president of the California Scholarship Federation at Westmoor, a member of the varsity baseball team, active in intra-mural sports, a member of the Science and Spanish clubs and active in other school activities.

Hansen has an A average. He won his letters in frosh-soph football and this year is sports editor of the Rampage, the school newspaper.

He was president of the senior class last semester, is president of the Science Club, vice president of the Math Club, co-treasurer of Modern Music Masters, member of the school marching band, the pep band and the dance band and a leader of discussion groups in his classes.

He is a member of the varsity tennis team and received his early education in Cleveland, Ohio, before his family moved to Daly City.

Congressman Younger said the youths will enter the academy in July.

Youngster Hit By Car

A six-year-old Daly City boy suffered facial and head cuts last Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a car on Evergreen Aveune, south of Irvington Street in Daly City.

The youngster, Donald L. Freeland, 6, of 6183 Mission Street, was admitted to Mary's Help Hospital.

The driver of the car, Leo Maggi, 54, of 314 Evergreen, told police the boy had dashed into the path of his auto from behind a parked car.

JESD Okays Agenda Mailings

The board of trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District has approved the mailing of annotated board meeting agendas to the press, the Teachers' Negotiating Council, the Daly City Clerk's office and the P-TA Co-ordinating Council.

The annotated agenda provides more detailed background material on subjects up for action or discussion at board meetings.

In a letter to the board, the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association described its repeated requests for detailed agendas and its need for being "fully informed in order to contribute intelligently to discussion of education issues before the board."

Members of the Teachers' Negotiating Council had been informed by the superintendent previously that copies were available only to the superintendents and the board of trustees.

Trustee Wayne Douglas commented that he felt the need for detailed agendas for the press and for teachers was "pretty clear."

Superintendent Frank Greenwood expressed some reservation that the mailings might become "overburdensome," and if so, their continuance be reconsidered by the board.

Trustees also hired a head teacher, Mrs. Gertrude Madrosen, for the pre-school program which comes under Title I of the Elementary - Secondary Education Act.

The first two-month program will be held May and June at the George Washington School.

The last two months, July and August, at the General Pershing School, would be contingent upon the approval of the Head Start Program, according to Assistant Supt. Dr. Vinton Stratton. He noted that Mrs. Madrosen would be considered as classified personnel.

Four appointments for summer school principals were also approved. Dr. Stratton said that four schools would be operated for a period of five weeks.

License For D.C. Cabaret Is Suspended

The Copperwood Lodge at 1187 Hillside Boulevard in Daly City was in trouble with authorities again this week.

The lodge's liquor license was suspended for 10 days. The suspension will be lifted Friday.

A spokesman for the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, which suspended the license, said the penalty was invoked because of employment of minors.

The cabaret gained considerable notoriety last fall when a topless dancer was arrested by Daly City police during a show.

The dancer, Gail Ann O'Leary, was subsequently acquitted of charges of lewdness, indecent exposure and outraging public decency. The lodge, however, did not resume topless shows.

Former wrestler Ben Sharpe is an owner of the lodge.

Democrats Quiz County Candidates

Members of the Daly City-Colma Democratic Club met last week to hear Democratic candidates for county offices and the fifth supervisorial district Democratic Central Committee.

Candidates were given five minutes in which to speak, then provided with varying lengths of time for question-and-answer sessions.

Among those who attended and spoke were candidates for supervisor, treasurer, assessor, recorder and sheriff.

There were none of the heated exchanges which sometimes occur when rivals get together, however.

For the most part, the candidates present discussed their records and backgrounds, and answered questions from the floor on specific issues.

First Duty: Proclamation By Polonsky

Daly City Mayor Albert E. Polosnky, in his first official act since taking office, last week issued a proclamation in recognition of the centennial anniversary of the Jefferson Elemenary School District.

Noting that "public education is a foundation stone of our great democracy," Polonsky said that the community's schools "have exemplified the highest of educational ideals for 100 years."

The new mayor commended all those whose labors have helped attain this educational achievement.

"I further urge all citizens of Daly City to join in the events commemorating this historic anniversary," he concluded.

Sentencing Set In Fraud Case

Mrs. Frances Oocerla Jones, 27, of 605 Mayfair Avenue, South San Francisco, is scheduled to be sentenced May 17 on her plea of guilty to a charge of welfare fraud.

Lt. Adolph Fernandez of the district attorney's office charged that Mrs. Jones failed to report to the welfare department that she was sharing her residence with a gainfully employed man, one James Skeins.

9 Peninsula Chambers in Air Meeting

Sixteen representatives of nine Peninsula chambers of commerce met last week to discuss plans for the county-wide "Aviation Appreciation Week," May 15-21.

The gathering of chamber managers and officers, at the invitation of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, took place Tuesday morning at Uncle John's Pancake House in Millbrae

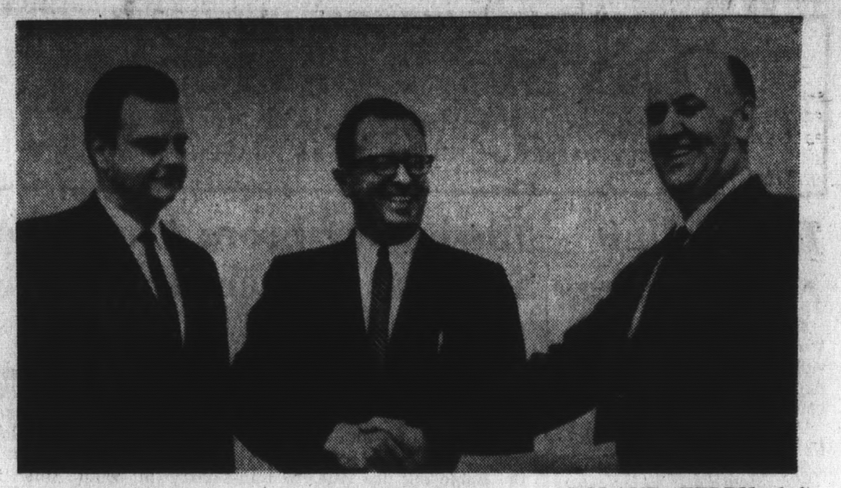
Those present expressed unanimous approval of the forthcoming "Salute to the Airport," which was planned by the San Bruno Chamber and has won the endorsement of the San Bruno City Council and the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Two dozen or more major airlines are expected to participate in the week-long observance, which will include window displays in local stores, films and exhibits, and possibly participation by stewardesses to answer the public's questions.

Street dancing and a banquet for Peninsula officials and airline representatives are also planned.

The chamber representatives reviewed plans for the week, then agreed to meet again May 4 to co-ordinate their programs.

Last week's meeting, which included chambers from Menlo Park to Pacifica, may prove to be the beginning of a permanent tie between the groups.



ROLAND TERRY, left, president of the Pacifica Boys' Club, and Howard Cuyler, center, chairman of the building fund campaign, present pledges totaling $1,400 to newly-appointed Advance Gift Chairman Albert M. Rosenberg. Rosenberg's committee solicits funds from firms whose main offices are outside Pacifica, also has responsibility for donations of over $100.

PG&E Opens New S.S.F. Facilities

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli officiated at ceremonies marking the completion of the new Pacific Gas and Electric Company office at 234 Miller Avenue. The office has opened for business.

The one-story building will provide faster, more convenient service for more than 15,000 gas and electric customers in the South San Francisco and Brisbane areas, according to George H. Schmidt, PG&E's South San Francisco manager.

The $70,000 structure is landscaped with juniper and other California shrubs and is in keeping with PG&E's building theme of environmental compatability.

Of contemporary design, the office has 2,300 square feet of floor space and occupies the site of the former PG&E office. For the past several months, during its construction, PG&E has had a temporary office at 212A Miller Avenue.

The new building, which will be staffed by a dozen employes, was built to PG&E specifications by the Harvis Construction Company of South San Francisco.

Car Wash To Open Soon In Daly City

Daly City's first automatic "do-it-yourself" car wash is expected to be in business by next week, its owners said today.

The facility, which can accommodate five cars at one time, has been built on Sullivan Avenue near Pierce Street by Ross Schendel of Daly City and Mario Caprini of San Francisco.

Owners wash their own cars, they explained, after depositing 25 cents to turn on a high-pressure hose and wand which supplies either soapy or clear water.

Also provided are coin-operated vacuum cleaners and dispensers for drying towels.

According to Mrs. Mary Schendel, wife of the co-owner, a grand opening celebration is planned, which will include free car washes to familiarize customers with use of the coin-operated car wash.

Candidates To Air Issues

Edward Keating, publisher of "Ramparts" magazine, and Mark Sullivan, candidates for the Democratic nomination in the eleventh Congressional District, will discuss campaign issues at an open meeting to be held at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center in San Francisco Sunday at 8 p.m.

Also participating will be attorney John Dinkelspiel, representing Congressman J. Arthur Younger.

Others expected to take part in the "Candidates Night" are Supervisors Leo T. McCarthy and George R. Moscone, candidates for the State Senate; and LaRue Grim, Democratic aspirant for the seat now held by Congressman William F. Mailliard. Mailliard will also be represented.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

Bethel Unit Sets Meeting

Bethel Church of Pacifica's Women's Missionary Council will hold its regular monthly day meeting Friday at the church.

The ladies will be putting the finishing touches on the remodeling of the church nursery.

There will be a group making crib sheets and mattresses for the new cribs made by Mr. Martin Reinertson, and a group will paint the last of the woodwork.

The ladies are also making plans for their Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held next month.

Bethel's Women's Missionary Council meets twice each month on the second Friday evening and the last Friday during the day. One need not be a member of Bethel to be a part of the Women's Missionary Council.

Temple To Host Priest

At their Sabbath services on May 6 Temple Judea will welcome to its pulpit Father Eugene J. Boyle, director of Vallombrosa Retreat Center in Menlo Park.

Father Boyle will speak on "Church in the Modern World." Father Boyle has conducted, since 1958, a weekly radio program, "Underscore" (KCBS — Sunday, 11:05 p.m.), and since early 1963 has been a panelist on the KCBS inter-faith program, "Outlook" (Thursday, 9:30 p.m.).

Archbishop McGucken appointed Father Boyle Chaplain of the Archdiocesan Catholic Interracial Council in June, 1962, and in July, 1964, chairman of the Social Justice Commission of the Archdiocese.

Luther Film To Be Shown

The dramatic film "Martin Luther" will be shown at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

This sound film, one hour and 20 minutes in length, reveals the struggles leading to the reformation and the real thinking of the meaning of the Christian faith.

The two morning worship services are at 9:30 and 11 a.m. The sermon at these services will be "Martin Luther, a Man of Faith."

Sunday School ssesions are held at 9:30 and 11 o'clock. Pupils have been studying the Biblical meaning of the Reformation in connection with church history.

Missionary From Africa To Speak at Lutheran Church

Dr. Seigfreid Rabie, M.D., a Christian doctor working for the Lutheran Hospital in Hlabisa, South Africa, will preach at the 8:30 and 11:00 worship at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, Sunday, May 8.

Dr. Rabie and his wife, who is a nurse, will spend two evenings at the Our Redeemer's Church, Sunday and Monday, May 8 and 9.

Their tales of work on the line of duty in a foreign land will be illustrated by use of colored film.

For the past six years Dr. and Mrs. Rabie have spent energy and effort in medical and surgical skills at the Lutheran Hospital at Hlabisa, South Africa.

Dr. and Mrs. Rabie will start the series "A Look at Our World" to be held at the Our Redeemer's Church for five evenings, May 8-12. Four missionaries will bring stories of their experiences, the experience of sharing the Christian faith with others.

Other missionaries to appear at Our Redeemer's are: Rev. Martin L. Wyneken, missionary to India for 25 years; Dr. Robert Wildrick, D.D.S., dentist missionary in South America, and Rev. Jerome Fleischer, missionary in the United States among the American Jew.

Each evening service will start at 7:30 p.m. Friends of the community and other churches are welcome to visit.

Baptists To Hold Rites

Sunday evening at 6:45 p.m., at the Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, Westside Baptist Church, 2322 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, the World Vision Film, depicting the war and the resultant hardships in the land of Viet Nam, "Viet Nam Profile" will be shown.

The film, eight minutes in length, was filmed in war-stricken Viet Nam, and shows the drama of God at work in the midst of war.

Rev. Bob Pierce, director of World Vision, has spent the biggest part of two years in Viet Nam, filming and directing the producing of this film.

Included in the film is the showing of colorful aboriginal tribespeople, Vietnamese, and then a number of scenes from actual combat.

Also shown in the film, are missionaries who are laboring in that country, and then the work of the military chaplains, as they minister to the physical and spiritual needs of Americans and Vietnamese alike.

Children To Be Honored

Children of Congregation B'nai Israel who celebrated their birthdays during the month of April will be honored by Rabbi Solomon A. Shore at evening services this Friday at 8:15, at the templehouse, 1575 Annie Street, Colma.

Birthday cake will be served to the children by hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Gary Papelbaum and Mrs. Milton Reynard, at Oneg Shabbath which follows the services.

On Wednesday, May 4, at 7 p.m. at the templehouse, the pre-teen group, which includes youngsters between ages 10 to 13, will meet for the first time to organize.

This activity is part of the United Synagogue Youth of Congregation B'nai Israel and will be sponsored by the Sisterhood.

Meeting Set By Church

Hope Lutheran Church in Daly City will hold its second quarterly congregational meeting of the year at the church at 7:30 p.m. today.

Among the most important items on the agenda for this meeting will be final action on the building plans for the parish hall to be constructed on the church grounds in the near future.

It is anticipated that work on this project will begin next month.

The Hills Of Color

The hills above the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica are once again showing their annual floral display of color.

Outlined against the green hills in the Sharp Park District, are ice-plants flowering in many shades of pink.

They are arranged in the design of a large cross and letters spell out "Good Shepherd." The area is framed with dark green Monterey cypress trees.

Former Captive To Give Talk

Columbian Father Aedan McGrath, who was imprisoned by the Communists for three years, will speak at the Church of the Visitacion at 655 Sunnydale Avenue, under the auspices of the Legion of Mary, at 1:30 p.m., May 7 and 8.

Salary Hike Proposal Hit By McCarthy

"We will be good if you give us more money."

"That, acording to State Senator Robert I. McCarthy, is what the state legislature is saying to the voters with a proposal that would triple their salaries and at the same time prohibit lawyer-legislators from representing private clients before public agencies.

McCarthy, Democratic candidate for State Senator of San Mateo County, addressed some 50 Rotarians at their luncheon meeting in Daly City last Wednesday.

He termed the proposal of legislators now pending, "A carrot on the stick technique." The former legislator and State Department of Motor Vehicles director said, "It will not work. The voters will aprove a pay riase when it is earned."

The candidate told the group that, "No legislator without outside income can offord to spend full time on his duties at the current salary of $500 per month."

He assailed the appearance of lawyer-legislators before state boards or commissions on behalf of private interests. Such activity, he declared, "places considerable strain on the impartiality of state hearing offiers."

McCarthy, an attorney himself, said the adoption of a code of ethical conduct with expulsion from public office as the penalty for violation "is long overdue."

McCarthy was introduced by Albert Polonsky, Daly City mayor, who was Rotary program chairman for the day.

Mrs. Nettle is one of three persons representing junior colleges on the State Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education and is a vice president of the California School Board's Association.

In accepting the appointment, Mrs. Nettle said, "The re-election of Congressman Younger is of the utmost importance to San Mateo County. I am pleased to accept the chairmanship of the Women's Division of the Younger Congressonal Campaign Committee to re-elect our outstanding Congressman, J. Arthur Younger, to the House of Representatives."

Homemade cookies, nut-breads, and coffee will be served to parents by girls from the homemaking classes.

New Mayor Is Greeted By Flowers

The Daly City Council's annual organizational meeting, which saw Albert Polonsky named mayor, continued a flowery tradition last week.

For the special meeting, which also saw the council adopt a resolution declaring the results of the April 12 election official, Superintendent of Parks August Conci had filled the council chambers with flowers.

There were rhododendrons, azaleas, flowering apple—everything from potted plants to bushes to full scale trees, in full bloom.

The plants—some 40 of them overflowing the chamber — had been loaned for the occasion by the Pacific Nursery of Colma.

Councilmen Bernard Lycett, Edward Dennis and Micheal DeBernardi, winners in the April 12 voting, took their oaths of office surrounded by the blossoms.

Each swore to uphold the constitutions of the United States and California, and to "faithfully discharge the duties of the office of city councilman of the city of Daly City, to the best of my ability."

All five councilmen thanked each other, the voters and the public in general for their support. Each introduced his wife to the large audience.

After Polonsky's election as mayor, Councilman Lycett was chosen mayor pre-tempore for the forthcoming year.

The council also passed a resolution praising Francis Pacelli "for distinguishd service to the city of Daly City" during his term as mayor.

Cereal Muffins For Late Morning Lift

It's hard to improve on a warm breakfast muffin filled with dates and nuts. This mealtime treat tastes even better, though, when uncooked hot whole wheat cereal is used in its preparation. The cereal contributes good grain flavor and texture. Bake these muffins a day ahead. They will then need only be warmed before serving with a quick basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. It is a wise morning choice. Scientific research, known as the Iowa Breakfast Studies, has demonstrated that a basic cereal and milk breakfast supplying ¼ of the day's calories and protein is superior in maintaining mental and physical efficiency, in the late morning hours, when compared to larger or smaller morning meals.

Date 'N Nut Cereal Muffins

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup hot whole wheat cereal, uncooked
- ⅓ cup chopped nuts
- ½ cup finely chopped dates
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup melted shortening or cooking oil

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Stir in cereal, nuts, and dates. Add eggs, milk, and shortening or oil; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased (2½ x 1¼ inch) muffin pans about ⅔ full. Bake in hot oven (425°F) until done and browned, 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: About 12 muffins.

A Fluffy Gelatin Dessert for Dieters

Lime Snow is a fluffy gelatine dessert that is absolute perfection for dieters—and a refreshing sweet for those who don't have to watch calories. What's more, it's so easy to make thanks to the quick-gel method. This way of preparing Lime Snow calls for four basic ingredients: unflavored gelatine, frozen limeade concentrate, egg whites and ice water. When you use the icy ingredients as directed, the snow quickly reaches serving consistency. Getting in trim shape for warm weather wardrobes will be easy when Lime Snow is the finale to lunch or dinner. For other low-calorie recipes, you can order a new leaflet, "Delicious Dishes for Dieters," from Suite 1100, Dept. SH, 551 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Lime Snow

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
- Non-nutritive sweetener equivalent to ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup ice water
- 3 egg whites
- Green food coloring

Sprinkle gelatine over water in saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat; add concentrate and stir until melted. Add non-nutritive sweetener and ice water. Chill until slightly thicker than consistency of unbeaten egg white. Combine with egg whites in large bowl; beat on high speed of electric mixer until mixture begins to hold its shape, or beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy, about 7 minutes. Add few drops of green food coloring. Turn into 8-cup serving bowl, or into individual serving dishes. Chill until firm.
YIELD: 8 servings, 64 calories each.

Crab Casserole For Entertaining

Between a layer of creamy macaroni and thinly sliced tomatoes are sweet tender morsels of canned Alaska King crab, the distinctive ingredient that makes this a company casserole. In addition, three varieties of cheese contribute their good flavor.

Company Crab Casserole may be prepared in advance and refrigerated until time to bake and serve. Since canned Alaska King crab is completely tendonless it is ready to use as it comes from the can. Simply slice it into bite-size pieces to spread over the macaroni-cheese layer.

To serve, mark the casserole into squares with a sharp knife and transfer with a broad spatula to dinner plates. Add a light, bright fruit salad and crunchy hard rolls to complete this perfectly scrumptious fare.

Company Crab Casserole

- 1 (7½ oz.) can Alaska King crab
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 cups (6 oz.) shell macaroni
- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
- ½ cup dairy sour cream
- ½ cup cottage cheese
- ½ teaspoon garlic powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup sliced green onion
- 2 medium tomatoes, sliced thin
- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Drain crab and slice into bite-size pieces. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Have cream cheese at room temperature. Add to hot macaroni and toss gently to coat. Add sour cream, cottage cheese and seasonings. Spread in shallow buttered 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle onion over macaroni. Spread with layer of crab, then a layer of sliced tomatoes. Sprinkle tomatoes with additional salt and pepper. Top with grated Cheddar cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

This Beefsteak Is Chicken-fried

Whatever the origin of chicken fried steak, it's a lot more steak than chicken. In fact, you will find it the meat, potato and gravy kind of dish that weakens men and has the youngsters coming back for seconds. You can afford to offer seconds on steak when it's round steak, lean and boneless, full of flavor and nutrition, relatively inexpensive. Although the round isn't the most tender of steaks, when you "chicken fry" it you can cut it with a fork.

Sauce 'n' Steak For Dinner

½ cup sifted flour
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
1½ teaspoons salt
2 pounds thin round steak
¼ cup cooking oil
¼ cup water
1½ teaspoons instant minced onion
2 cups milk

Combine ¼ cup flour, garlic powder and 1 teaspoon salt; pound into beef. Cut into serving pieces. Brown in hot oil. Add water; cover and simmer until tender, 20 to 30 minutes. Remove beef; pour off drippings and return 2 tablespoons drippings to skillet. Blend in remaining ¼ cup flour, remaining ½ teaspoon salt and onion; cook until bubbly. Add milk. Cook, stirring until thickened and smooth. Makes 6 servings.

Glaze Corned Beef With Citrus Fruit

Corned beef is simple to fix, requiring only the time it takes to simmer it tender. The flavor is all there to begin with and you needn't fuss with fancy sauces or gravies. It keeps indefinitely and is good both hot and cold. When studded with cloves, scored and glazed, it's the nicest change of pace from ham we can think of.

Citrus Glazed Corned Beef

6 pounds corned beef round
Water
1 sliced onion
2 cloves garlic
Cloves
1 lemon
1 orange
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup dry sherry

Cover corned beef with cold water; add onion and garlic. Simmer 3 hours or until tender. Let beef cool in broth then drain. Score fat and stud with cloves. Grate peel from lemon and orange; mix with brown sugar, bread crumbs and mustard. Pat mixture over scored beef. Combine juice from lemon and orange with wine; spoon a few tablespoons over sugar mixture. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 minutes, then reduce temperature to moderate (350 degrees F.). Continue baking 25 to 30 minutes, basting frequently with wine mixture. Makes 10 servings.

Salad Uses Artichokes

There's plenty to please the palate in "Spicy Spring Salad," a "May Is Salad Month" entry for warm-weather tastes. First off, the dressing — a mixture of corn oil, lemon juice, dry mustard, horseradish, Worcestershire and garlic. Button mushrooms, halved artichoke hearts and sliced celery and green onion are marinated in it before being tossed with bite-size pieces of western iceberg lettuce and sprinkled with grated parmesan cheese.

Spicy Spring Salad

1 head western iceberg lettuce
1-3 cup corn oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
½ teaspoon Worcestershire
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 can (6 oz.) button mushrooms
1 can (7 oz.) whole artichoke hearts
½ cup sliced celery
¼ cup sliced green onion
Grated parmesan cheese

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in Saran or plastic bag. Mix oil, lemon juice, salt, mustard, horseradish, Worcestershire and garlic in large jar. Drain mushrooms; rinse, drain artichokes and cut into halves. Add mushrooms, artichokes, celery and onion to dressing; marinate at least one hour. Just before serving tear lettuce into bite-size pieces to measure 3 cups. Toss lightly with marinade and vegetables in salad bowl. Sprinkle generously with cheese. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

One way to get lipstick stains from a white collar or handkerchief is to rub with a little butter held in wax paper, then rub away with dry absorbent cotton.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

Times and heights of tides at San Mateo Bridge, California. Furnished by Marine Exchange, Inc., from Coast and Geodetic Survey Data Half Moon Bay tide 2 hours and 4 minutes earlier.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey Chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.)

Are you willing to go as low as $2353.45 for a new 9 passenger Station Wagon?

If you are, you'll have to be willing to settle for a Station Wagon that holds nearly twice as much as a regular wagon. Yet outside is only 9 inches longer than a Volkswagen Sedan.

And gives you 23 miles per gallon using regular. And 35,000 miles on tires. And seldom needs oil between changes. And when you do change oil it's 4 pints, not 4 quarts.

And will look just as preposterous years from now as the day you took it for a test drive.

Speaking of test drives, come in for one.

VOLVOS SURVIVED 15,360 miles of competitive high-speed driving over the worst roads in the world to win the 1965 World Rally Championship. Awarded annually by the British Royal Automobile Club, the title was captured by the Swedish automobile manufacturer for the second consecutive year.

1965 TITLE

World Rally Is Taken By Volvo

After five championship rallies totaling 27 days and 15,360 miles of competitive high-speed driving over many of the world's worst roads, Volvo emerged the winner of the 1965 World Rally Championship.

Awarded annually by the British Royal Automobile Club, the championship goes to the automobile manufacturer who placed highest in five international rallies this year. With outright wins in three of the 1965 events, Volvo captured the world title for the second straight time.

Ace Volvo driver, Tom Trana of Gothenburg, Sweden, started the season with an over-all victory in the 1,860-mile Swedish rally run March 10-13. Trana also won this rally for Volvo last year on his way to becoming the 1964 European Rally Champion.

Volvo's second outright win came in the 3,000-mile East African Safari rally April 15-19. The Singh brothers of Kenya beat 86 other cars in a used Volvo which started this grueling event with 40,000 miles on its odometer.

The third rally counting for the world championship also was the third over-all victory for Volvo. Klaus Ross of Toronto, Canada, drove his 122S sedan to first place over 62 other cars to win the 4,000-mile Shell 4,000 rally held April 24-29. This also was Volvo's second consecutive win in this trans-Canadian event.

With a fourth-place finish in the 4,500-mile Belgian Marathon de la Route rally run August 24-28, Volvo gained three more championship points under a system which awards 12-7-5-3-1 points for over-all finishing positions one through five.

Despite no official entries in the fifth and final rally — the English R.A.C. — Volvo had amassed enough points in the first four events to capture the world title.

Heading Volvo's rally effort since 1962 is two-time European rally champion Gunnar Andersson.

In commenting on Volvo's win this year, Andersson said, "Volvo participates in the world's toughest rallies to demonstrate the durability of its cars in open competition against the best cars built by the rest of the world's automobile manufacturers."

EXPANDED CHOICE OF SEATS

For the first time, the customer may choose from three types of cloth-trimmed front seats on top-of-the-line Chevrolet models.

Besides the standard bench seat, the new slim "Strato" bucket seats or a full width bench seat with bucket contours and a pull-down center armrest may be ordered on Caprice hardtop models.

1966 Fiat Spider Is Superb Auto

The 1966 Fiat Spider is one of the finest automobiles to come out of Italy in history.

With its new 83 horsepower engine and its inspired aerodynamic body, the Fiat Spider sports roadster is a constant thrill to its owner and a never-failing lift to his pride.

Handling as gently as a kitten, it will do 100 miles an hour with safety, luxury and comfort.

Its efficient, economical engine take it from zero to 60 in mere seconds.

Fiat's famed mechanical know-how and the best in racing experience has been concentrated in this engine to achieve the peak potential of internal combustion.

Polyspheric combustion chambers provide better compression ratios and improved over-all distribution of stresses; thus minimum wear and maximu life are ensured.

Two-barrel Weber carburetor and inclined OHV system combine to assure full power output. Fiat's heating system serves double duty as a warm and cold weather ventilation system.

With the handle set on hot, it fills the car with warm air, or with the heat off it directs cool, fresh air into the car through the heater ducts.

Joyce visited Hilltop Beauty School, where one of the students, demonstrated a new hair styling. Hilltop Beauty School has won a reputation as one of the leading schools of its type. Licensed by the State of California, it is approved for veterans schooling. Owners Lloyd and Leo Chamberlain invite graduates to drop by and discuss the tremendous opportunities available in the beauty profession.

Husky Cobra Hits Scene With a Roar

The Bordinat Cobra, a new two-passenger experimental sports car developed in the styling studios of Ford Motor Company, was unveiled at a preview to the Detroit Auto Show November 22 by Donald N. Frey, vice president and the general manager of the Ford Division.

A "one-off" operable prototype tailored to the specifications of the 427 Cobra, now in sports car competition, the Bordinat Cobra was described by Mr. Frey as "the ultimate in innovation for performance and style."

The name is derived from its creator, Gene Bordinat, company vice president and director of styling, and from the famous Ford-powered Shelby Cobra, which this year became the first American-built car to win the world manufacturer's championship.

Mr. Frey, as product planning manager of Ford Division, was an instigator in the development and production of the first Cobra, which was completed in 1962.

Designed to accommodate the Ford 427-cubic-inch V-8 engine, the Bordinat Cobra has been tested with a 289-cubic-inch V-8 and heavy duty Fairlane automatic transmission. It has reached speeds well in excess of 100 mph on the Dearborn high speed test track. Its development was begun in June, 1964, in response to interest generated by the 289 Cobra and the new 427 Corba produced by Carroll Shelby.

Two unique features of the experimental vehicle are a lightweight royalex body and a zippered vinyl roof, which can be removed in three sections and stored in the deck area from inside the passenger compartment.

Royalex is a synthetic material with exceptiona l resistance to impact and fire. The body is essentially a one-piece "skin."

WHITE WALLS OPTIONAL ©1962 VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

The most beautiful Volkswagen made.

Volkswagen's Karmann Ghia has a body that's been made in an old-fashioned custom way. Slowly. Meticulously. Thoroughly.

It has hand-shaped, hand-welded, hand-smoothed fenders and door frames and hoods. It has hand-stitched, hand-padded, hand-fitted seats and convertible tops. It has a four-coats-deep hand-painted and hand-sanded finish.

But the Karmann Ghia's beauty is more than skin deep. It has the VW torsion bar suspension system on all four wheels. So you ride comfortably; without bouncing or sliding in your seat. It has the VW synchromesh shift on all four gears. So you shift easily and smoothly. (You can even shift down from second to first without stopping. A terrific advantage in traffic.)

And, of course, it has the machined-by-hand VW engine. So it gets that beautiful VW mileage: about 32 miles on a gallon of regular gas. (It's air-cooled, too. It can't boil over or freeze up.)

Most people refer to this car as a "Ghia." But we won't be hurt if you call it:

"The most beautiful Volkswagen made."

Fast Back Is Newest in The 1966 VW Line

Two new rear-engined cars are on display at the Volkswagen dealerships — a two-door Squareback and a two-door Fastback Sedan have been added to the Volkswagen line for 1966.

Both the Squareback Sedan with its station wagon lines, and the Fastback Sedan with its distinctive, sloping rear end will be powered by a 65 h.p. air-cooled engine.

Designed as slightly larger and more powerful additions to the Volkswagen "beetle" line, the new VWs incorporate many of the engineering features built into their world-famous predecessors. These include a four-speed fully synchromesh transmission and four-wheel independent torsion bar suspension.

Both the new vehicles also feature fade-free disc brakes as standard equipment on the front wheels. Drum brakes are used on the rear.

While the Fastback Sedan is new for 1966, the Squareback Sedan looks like the VW-1500 Variant, Europe's best-selling Wagon. However, the 1966 model has many improvements under the sheet metal in the Volkswagen tradition.

Stuart Perkins, president of Volkswaegn of America, Inc., official VW importer for the U.S., said:

"In no way will these new and slightly larger cars replace our familiar 'beetle' which has won a lasting place in America and whose sales are hitting new highs this year.

As is normal with Volkswagen, there is a luggage compartment under the front hood of both models and it has a capacity of 6½-cubic feet. The easily accessibly rear trunk over the Fastback engine has another 10.2 cubic feet of luggage space. In the Squareback Sedan there are 4.25 cubic feet of interior cargo room with the rear seat folded.

Cloth upholstery is standard on both the new vehicles. Optionally available is wear and soil-resistant leatherette which is air-permeable for hot weather comfort.

The floors are covered with deep-pile carpeting which is reinforced for long-life in hardwear areas such as below the accelerator, brake and clutch pedals.

The Fastback Sedan features hingeless rear quarter windows made of a flexible safety glass which continually bends as the window is opened outward. The bend of the window starts about a third of the way back from the forward edge as the rear portion of the pane swings outward.

Four-wheel independent torsion bar suspension provides a smooth ride over rough road surfaces and assures outstanding roadability.

A special feature on the Sqaureback Sedan is an auxiliary spring in the rear which comes into play under severe load conditions on extremely rough ground or during hard cornering when extra springing is required.

Estimating that "we will sell the new models on a ratio of about one to every ten of the 'beetles,'" Perkins said his company's sales in the U.S. are expected to total more than 350,000 vehicles next year.

Both the new mdoels — the Squareback as well as the Fastback—carry five adults and are rated at a top speed of 84 miles per hour. Their four-cylinder magesium - aluminum engine develops 65 horsepower at 4,600 rp.m. Compression ratio of the 96.66-cubic-inch dual carburetor powerplant is 7.7 to 1.

Toronado Is Named Car Of the Year

Oldsmobile's Toronado, a revolutionary six-passenger coupe with front-wheel drive, has been named the 1966 Car of the Year by the editors of "Motor Trend" magazine.

Harold N. Metzel, Oldsmobile general manager and a vice president of General Motors, accepted the magazine's Car of the Year award—a two-foot engraved marble trophy—on behalf of Oldsmobile and all its people.

"Motor Trend" editorial director Ray Brock made the presentation during a banquet at the Detroit Athletic Club, attended by more than 150 editors from press, radio and television, and Oldsmobile officials.

"The Toronado has been selected to receive the "Motor Trend" Car of the Year award for a combination of engineering excellence, out-ahead styling and passenger comfort which make America's first modern front-wheel-drive automobile an exciting contribution to the consumer market," Brock said.

"Oldsmobile has invested many years in transforming an engineering challenge into a superbly efficient automobile," he continued. "The resulting product and its unique departure from the conventional may well determine the future concept of this country's automobiles."

Oldsmobile engineers spent seven years developing the Toronado and subjected it to more than a million miles of on-the-road testing before placing it into production at the start of the 1966 model year, Brock noted.

Commenting on this, he said: "Toronado's advanced front-wheel-drive concept has been carefully engineered, well executed and thoroughly tested before being offered to the consumer in an advanced-design body which signals the "look of tomorrow" in an automobile for today."

FOR 1966, the Opel Kadett line will offer for the first time this smart four-door de luxe sedan. Overall length is 164.6 inches and the width is 61.9. The Kadett is built by General Motors in West Germany and distributed in the United States.

VARIED MODELS

Plymouth Covers Wide Need Range

Plymouth cars for 1966 cover the widest range of motoring needs, preferences and price brackets in the 38-year history of the Plymouth line.

There is something for everyone in the 57 models, seven body styles, five wheelbases and five nameplates that make up the 1966 Plymouth lines of cars.

All models have new styling and engineering features. All are covered by Chrysler Corporation's 5-year, 50,000-mile warranty on engine and drive train components. Many of them are available with high performance options, including more powerful V-8 engines, front wheel disc brakes and four-on-the-floor manual transmissions.

Plymouth has introduced one new model in its 1966 line. Called the VIP, it is a luxury four-door hardtop designed for those who ask for the finest in equipment and interior appointments in a standard size automobile with distinctive exterior trim and identification. Wood grain exterior trim and recessed pull-down center arm rests for both front and rear seats are among ts many luxury features.

The 1966 Plymouth Valiant cars have appealing styling changes. A new hood, front fenders, roof and rear deck upper and lower panels combine to create the impression of a wider, lower-looking compact car. There are 14 six-cylinder and V-8 models in five body types — two-door and four-door sedans, a two-door hardtop, a convertible and a two-seat station wagon.

The Valiants, now in their sixth year as Plymouth's entry in the compact field, retain the purpose for which they were originally designed — to provide excellent low cost transportation. They are available, however, with a full range of performance, convenience and extra comfort options, including such items as factory installed air conditioning, front wheel disc brakes, center consoles, TorqueFlite or four-speed manual transmissions, power brakes and power steering.

Plymouth's entry in the sports-type car market is the Barracuda, a two-door hardtop fastback. The 1966 model has a new, bold grille design, a new instrument panel cluster, fender-mounted turn indicators and new shell-type bucket seats.

The standard engine is a 225-cubic inch six. Performance options include front wheel disc brakes, fast ratio manual steering and the Formula S package, consisting of the Commando 273 V-8 engine with a four-barrel carburetor, a heavy-duty suspension system, tachometer and heavy gauge wide rim 14-inch wheels with Blue Streak competition tires.

Breakthrough Made By Olds Engineering

Oldsmobile engineers, scoring a breakthrough in front-wheel drive design, have developed the Toronado, the most unique American automobile in many years.

To be produced as a six-passenger hardtop coupe, the Toronado features unusual interior space for passengers and luggage, outstanding driving traction and handling characteristics, and styling like no other car on the road. It is 211 inches long, only 52.8 incehs high, and is built on a 119-inch wheelbase.

Toronado design objectives have been achieved through the elimination of the transmission hump and driveline tunnel, the development of an advanced torsion bar suspension system, and the location of all power components under the hood, well forward of the passenger compartment.

The engien is situated as usual ofre and aft under the hood, but is offset slightly to the right of center. The rest of the power train design, through which torque is transferred to the front wheels, is ingenious.

The transmission's tourque converter is attached conventionally to the rear of the engine. The remaining section of the Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission is turned around and mouted along the left side of the engine, facing forward. A link chain assembly transfers power from the converter across and through the transtorsion bar suspension system, mission gear sets to a differential unit bolted to the front of the transmission, which in turn splits the torque between two front drive axle .

Its power plant, called the Toronado V-8, is a modified, more powerful version of Oldsmobile's 425-cubic-inh enigne, and is rated at 385 horsepower. Performance increases result from improved engine breathing and completely new, more efficient carburetion.

Car-Crazy Kids Got You Worried

Do you sometimes wonder whatever will become of that neighborhood boy who seems to spend all his spare time with his head beneath the hood of a car?

Don't worry about him. After he graduates from college on the scholarship he can win through his tinkering, he may possibly become a school teacher, an engineer, a sales representative for a corporation, a magazine editor, or he may work for the Federal Government.

Love of automobiles and a desire to learn what makes them tick is leading more boys each year into higher education and to interesting, well-paid careers. Many of them start by enrolling in auto-mechanics classes in high school.

There, they learn of opportunities for college scholarships through the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, a nation-wide program to encourage talented students to seek careers in the auto-mechanical field.

Last summer Chrysler-Plymouth Division, sponsors of the contests, awarded 20 boys scholarships worth $16,000 in the National Trouble Shooting contest finals at Detroit. Also, the 70 schools in 31 states whose teams survived qualifying contests to reach the finals were given $20,000 worth of tools and equipment for their auto-mechanics shops.

SERIES OF TESTS

Tension Is Just Beginning for Girls

The 1966 Miss Daly City Contest will narrow the field of 14 candidates down to five finalists Friday night at Westmoor High School, but then the tension has only begun.

Roughly one month later, on Thursday night, May 26, the winner of the twelfth annual affair will be chosen amid much emotion and drama.

Then, that winner will go on to compete in the county-wide San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta Dream Girl Contest.

That fete will hold its final judging on July 21 at 6:30 p.m. at the Fairgrounds in San Mateo.

Each city in the county (and each authorized unincorporated area) is allowed one entrant in the contest.

The winner of that title will be entered by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors as the county's candidate in the California Fair's Maid of California contest — which will be held later in the summer.

The prize in the Maid of California contest will be a $1,000 savings bond.

However, for the winner of the Miss Daly City contest there is added material incentive.

As in past years, the contest is being sponsored by the Daly City Chamber of Commerce. Daly City merchants have donated more than $3,000 in prizes in the past to the queen.

This bonanza in prizes has grown over the years since the contest first got started in 1955.

That year Janet Jackson won the honor of becoming the city's first Miss Daly City.

For her prize, however, she received only a trophy.

Janet subsequently became the contest's girl Friday and assisted co-chairman Fred Martin with the contest.

In 1967 when Rosaline Reinstra won the vote of the judges, the prize larder included a bathing suit in addition to the trophy.

Phyllis Adams in 1957 and Mary Cunningham in 1958 also won bathing suits and trophies.

The next year, however, the contest shifted into a higher gear when chamber officials asked merchants to donate prizes to the winner.

They responded readily and the 1959 winner, Pat Strasser, went home with the customary bathing suit and trophy and $100 worth of prizes donated by Daly City businessmen.

In succeeding years, the number and value of prizes rose steadily and Bonnie Robin (1960) and Lynette Fishel (1961) went home laden with merchandise certificates and valuable awards.

In 1962, when Nancy Padreddi became Miss Daly City, the contest prize barrel was filled with prizes valued at over $800.

With the 1963 winner, Claudia Smith, the 1964 winner, Karen Soltau, and the 1965 winner, Susann Bernard, the prize list has grown to over $3,000.

That total is regarded as the highest in the county.

But, money or not, the highest honor for the winner is just that—winning.

Judges Set

Although three positions remained open as of last week, the judges for the Miss Daly City Contest have been selected, according to Evert Terminello, contest co-chairman.

He gave this list as the judges who will take care of the Friday night semi-finals:

Monte Dayton, operations manager of The Post.

Al Delfino of the William Logomarsino Company.

Ron Bates, city editor of The Westlake Times.

Gerald Gigli of Davy Plumbing Company.

And a member of the Daly City Rotary Club.

Terminello gave this list as the judge selections for the finals in May:

Earl Taylor of Cypress Lawn.

Fred Tautenhahn of Westlake Shell.

LARGER DISPLACEMENT

The base six-cylinder engine in regular Chevrolet models for 1966 has a larger 250-cubic inch displacement. Its increased power and torque give improved performance with fuel economy.

The new fully counterweighted crankshaft which has 12 weights instead of the previous 4, introduces added smoothness at all engine speeds.

The engine retains basic features of Chevrolet's highly advanced valve-in-head design with seven main bearings.
